Inflation Could Cut Dollar In Half In Dozen Years: Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — July was not a good month for the nation's anti-inflation warriors. Personal income hit a new peak but so did prices. The Commerce Department confirmed its fears about continuing inflation. And there is another apparently disturbing report on the U.S. balance of payments deficit.

The bad news emerged Thursday in an avalanche of economic indicators, and Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy underscored it by grimly warning of an "intolerable inflation" that could cut the value of the dollar in half in less than a dozen years.

"We've been a bit late in recognizing just how strong these forces are that control" rising personal income, one economist admitted after Commerce reported a $6 billion increase during July.

Income rose to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $752.3 billion. The biggest single factor in the outsized increase was a $2.5 billion federal pay raise that won't happen again. Economists think the monthly increase will be around $5 billion for the rest of the year.

Kennedy, speaking at the dedication of a new Mint in Philadelphia, cited the 6½ per cent increase in the consumer price index for the first half of this year.

In the upside-down world of the economic cancer called inflation, news that once was good now is bad and what once was bad now is good or at least acceptable.

Increasing personal income is one example. In normal times it means John Q. Citizen can swing the new car or his wife can buy better cuts of meat. In times of inflation, however, their spending drives up prices, which in turn cuts their buying power.

Analysts Think Soviets Started Border Clash

HONG KONG (AP) — The Soviets probably started the latest border clash by invading Chinese territory, Western analysts of Chinese military affairs said today.

All evidence here so far strongly indicates that the Chinese troops involved in the fighting were local security and local militia troops who were surprised by the Russian attack, analysts said.

They listed these factors and their reasoning:

—Accounts from Moscow of the fighting have emphasized that Soviet troops cut off Chinese border guards from "reinforcements."

It is likely that the cut-off "reinforcements" were troops of the professional People's Liberation Army who were camped some distance behind the border and who were attempting to reach the border as soon as fighting began.

—Moscow's announcement of the first fighting on Wednesday gave few details of Soviet casualties.

Soviet reports of Chinese-provoked battles have always given extensive accounts of Russians killed and wounded, with lengthy stories about the heroism of individual soldiers. But the Soviet press has given only scanty details of battles provoked by the Russians.

This time, however, it has been Radio Peking that has given most of the details of the fighting, casualties and types of armored equipment and aircraft used by the Russians.

—Sinkiang is a "very poor province for China in security terms and the Chinese would be extremely unlikely to provoke anything there."

Hurricane Heads Toward Cuba

MIAMI (AP) — Hurricane Camille, her winds up to a howling 100 miles an hour and growing stronger, thrashed slowly toward Cuba today and posed a threat to Florida and the highly-exposed chain of Florida Keys.

Cuba, where the harvest of the two big money crops, tobacco and sugar, is in full swing will get the full brunt of the most dangerous Atlantic storm of 1969, said Dr. Robert H. Simpson, chief of the National Hurricane Center.

Poison Gas Routed Through Chicago

By The Associated Press
Two trains carrying canisters of the World War I killer gas phosgene were headed toward industrial purchasers in Louisiana and New York State today, with one routed through metropolitan Chicago.

The gas—some 300 tons in canisters witnesses in Des Moines, Iowa, described as Chicago area shortly before 4 a.m. after traveling a maximum of 30 miles an hour during the 120-mile 6½-hour trip from Clinton, Iowa.

As the Chicago and North Western Railroad freight passed through suburban Elmhurst, about a half dozen antiwar protesters marched along the tracks. Two pickets attached signs to the uncovered flatcars.

One sign, placed by Lynn Cima, 32, a Highland Park mother of six, said, "Let my children live—Ban CBW, the final pollution."

It went to the Proviso Yards for a crew change. The rail yards, about 18 miles from downtown Chicago, are near the industrial-residential suburbs of Melrose Park and Bellwood.

Thirty protesters representing peace groups from the city and suburbs marched in front of the yards' main entrance.

Block Entrance
Suburban police and railway security guards block the entrance to both protesters and newsmen.

The shipments were disclosed Thursday by Rep. Richard D. McCarthy, D-N.Y., whose investigation into U.S. production of chemical and biological warfare agents resulted in abandonment by the Army last May of a plan to ship obsolete gas by rail from Denver to the Atlantic Ocean for dumping.

McCarthy, in a letter to President Nixon, urged him "to have this matter thoroughly investigated to insure that the safety of the American public is protected."

The New York Democrat said the train carrying the gas destined for Lockport, loaded 15 one-ton canisters to a flatcar on a 14-car train, sat in Denver for several hours and in Des Moines, a city of 250,000, for an hour and 20 minutes.

Phosgene, a combination of carbon monoxide and chlorine, was credited with 80 per cent of the chemical warfare deaths of World War I. It causes a severe and often fatal edema of the lungs when inhaled.

News In Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's proposal for a draft lottery has received a Senate boost, but the key to any action before the current draft law runs out in 1971 still lies with the House Armed Services Committee where opposition can be expected.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration is having a hard time living up to its promise to find jobs or new training for young men and women caught in the closing of 59 Job Corps centers last April.

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon has appealed to banks and other lending institutions to go ahead with loans to college students despite a delay in Congress in acting on a measure to continue federal guarantees with a higher interest rate.

Milliken Wants Plan To Spur U.P. Growth

Sawyer Crew Jumps Safely In Emergency

K. I. SAWYER — Air Force units from K. I. Sawyer this morning recovered the last of four crew members who were forced to bail out of their KC-135 jet tanker due to an airborne emergency Thursday night.

The pilot who was the fifth member of the crew stayed with the aircraft and made a successful landing at K. I. Sawyer at 7:45 p. m.

The drama began about 7:30 p. m. with the bailout of four crew members and ended at 3 a. m. this morning with the rescue of the last flyer.

According to Air Force officials, the bailout took place seven miles northeast of Sawyer in a heavily wooded area. One crew member was picked up shortly after bailout, two were recovered at 11:15 p. m. and rescue units ended their search with the recovery of the final man at 3 a. m. today.

The four men who bailed out were Capt. Joseph T. Heywood, Capt. Robert Tittlady, Capt. Lee P. Hooper, and T. Sgt. Phillip A. Wangness.

Piloting the plane to a safe landing was Maj. Donald L. Irwin.

All crew members were examined at the Sawyer Hospital and released.

Sawyer officials said that over 200 base personnel were involved in the rescue operations. Also taking part in the search for the downed crew members was a Coast Guard helicopter from Traverse City.

No Trace Of Lansing Family

COPPER HARBOR (AP) — The Coast Guard has reported "absolutely" no results from its individual check of all harbors and marinas along the Lake Superior shore in its search for a Lansing family missing since July 30.

John L. Carver, 30, his wife Elisa, 27, and their six-year-old son Christopher were last seen on their 18-foot boat, Lady Lisa, near Rock Harbor on Isle Royale.

Another son, John Jr., 8, was left at a YMCA camp at Harrison.

New Commerce Director Will Assemble Data

Gov. William Milliken plans to send the new state commerce director into the Upper Peninsula in the near future to "examine the potential for expanding tourism and developing industry."

Announcement of the plan was included in a speech by the governor prepared for delivery this afternoon before the grandstand at the Upper Peninsula State Fair in Escanaba.

The governor was scheduled to arrive in Escanaba by plane about 2 p.m., tour the midway at the fairgrounds and then speak to the crowd at the afternoon grandstand show. He was scheduled to leave about 3:30 p.m.

Today is Governor's Day at the U.P. Fair.

"While I am governor," Milliken said, "the state will do everything it can to preserve the beauty of this land while helping more people to enjoy it."

To Gather Data

The governor said preservation of the Upper Peninsula's lakes, streams and forests is "essential to its future growth. At the same time, every effort must be made to create more jobs by attracting more industry here and encouraging those that are here to expand."

Richard Whitmer, new commerce director, will meet community leaders across the Upper Peninsula "gathering all the information they can give him and all of the ideas they can offer for the growth and development of this area," Milliken said.

"The immediate, pressing problems of the Upper Peninsula demand a cooperative and creative relationship between local and state government, and the further development of such a relationship" will be among the objectives, he added.

Interested In Action

Milliken said the Commerce Department is "deeply interested in developing an action plan for stimulating U.P. development — a plan for action, not for study."

He added that efforts to spur development also would include the federal government.

Milliken cited steps being considered to make more use of the St. Lawrence Seaway and "the possibility of establishing tax incentives for business enterprises in depressed areas of the Upper Great Lakes region."

Milliken, since becoming governor, has made several trips to the Upper Peninsula including

Collins To Stand Trial For 1st Degree Murder

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A handsome young college student—identified as the last person with whom a slain coed was seen alive—has been ordered to stand trial for first-degree murder in the strangulation death of the pretty Eastern Michigan University freshman.

The victim, 18-year-old Karen Sue Beineman, was the latest of seven young women killed in a series of sex slayings in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area in the past two years.

The defendant, John Norman Collins, 22, is accused of murdering Miss Beineman last month and dumping her nude and battered body alongside a secluded road on the outskirts of Ann Arbor. No charges have been filed in connection with the other six slayings.

Head In Hands

Collins, a husky former high school football star, put his head in his hands briefly but otherwise showed no emotion when District Judge Edward Deake ruled there was reasonable cause to believe the defendant may have committed the murder.

After Deake set Sept. 5 for Collins' arraignment on the charge in Washtenaw County Circuit Court, the defendant's mother — Mrs. Loretta Collins—broke into audible sobs.

It was the only outburst during nearly five hours of prosecution testimony in the jammed, heavily guarded courtroom.

Tight security prevailed throughout the hearing, with newsmen and the handful of spectators being frisked before guards would allow them inside. There was seating for some 30 reporters and about 15 others.

The prosecution, indicating it was not disclosing all of its evidence called nine witnesses as it outlined a chain of circumstances to justify the charge against Collins.

Identification

One witness positively identified Collins as the man with whom Miss Beineman was last seen alive as she rode on a motorcycle on a street in Ypsilanti, home of Eastern Michigan University.

The witness was Mrs. Diana Joan Goshe, who testified that the coed came into her shop to purchase a $25.75 wiglet on July 23, the day she disappeared. Her body was found three days later near Ann Arbor, about 15 miles west.

Other witnesses presented scientific evidence purported to link the victim and the accused to the suspected murder scene—the basement of a housing belonging to Collins' uncle, Cpl. David Leik of the Michigan State Police.

Leik said he had given a key to the house to Collins, asking him to feed the dog while the family went on vacation. Upon returning, Leik said, he noticed black paint had been sprayed in an apparent attempt to conceal some red spots on the basement floor.

Some of the spots turned out to be human blood, the same type as Miss Beineman's according to another witness, Walter Holz of the Michigan Health Department crime laboratory.

Holz conceded under cross-examination that about 40 per cent of the population has Type A blood, the kind found on the basement floor.

Holz also testified that many

Northern Ireland Violence Kills 5

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — The British government recalled troops from leave and flew others to Northern Ireland today after a night of gunfire in Belfast and Armagh left 5 dead, 192 persons injured and parts of the state capital in flames.

Fighting between the police and Protestants on one side and Roman Catholics on the other ebbed as morning came. But hatred seethed between the Catholic minority and the Protestant majority, and Ulster's worst outbreak of violence in nearly 50 years appeared far from over.

The Royal Air Force flew 300 British infantrymen from England to fill the gaps left by British troops called to action in Londonderry for the first time since World War I. Londonderry was calm but uneasy.

Another 600 men of the Royal Green Jackets were being recalled from leave and put on standby "because of the seriousness of the situation" in Ulster, the British Defense Ministry announced.

42 Wounded
There were fears that the night of violence, in which at least 42 persons were treated for gunshot wounds, may add new fuel to the rioting throughout Ulster cities.

But the Ulster government was hesitant to call in additional British troops to Belfast—for it would indicate it could no longer control the situation with its own Royal Ulster Constabulary.

Opposition to the Ulster government spread to Irishmen in Britain. The Irish Immigrants Republican Organization called for a national one-day work

The witness was Mrs. Diana Joan Goshe, who testified that the coed came into her shop to purchase a $25.75 wiglet on July 23, the day she disappeared. Her body was found three days later near Ann Arbor, about 15 miles west.

Other witnesses presented scientific evidence purported to link the victim and the accused to the suspected murder scene—the basement of a housing belonging to Collins' uncle, Cpl. David Leik of the Michigan State Police.

Leik said he had given a key to the house to Collins, asking him to feed the dog while the family went on vacation. Upon returning, Leik said, he noticed black paint had been sprayed in an apparent attempt to conceal some red spots on the basement floor.

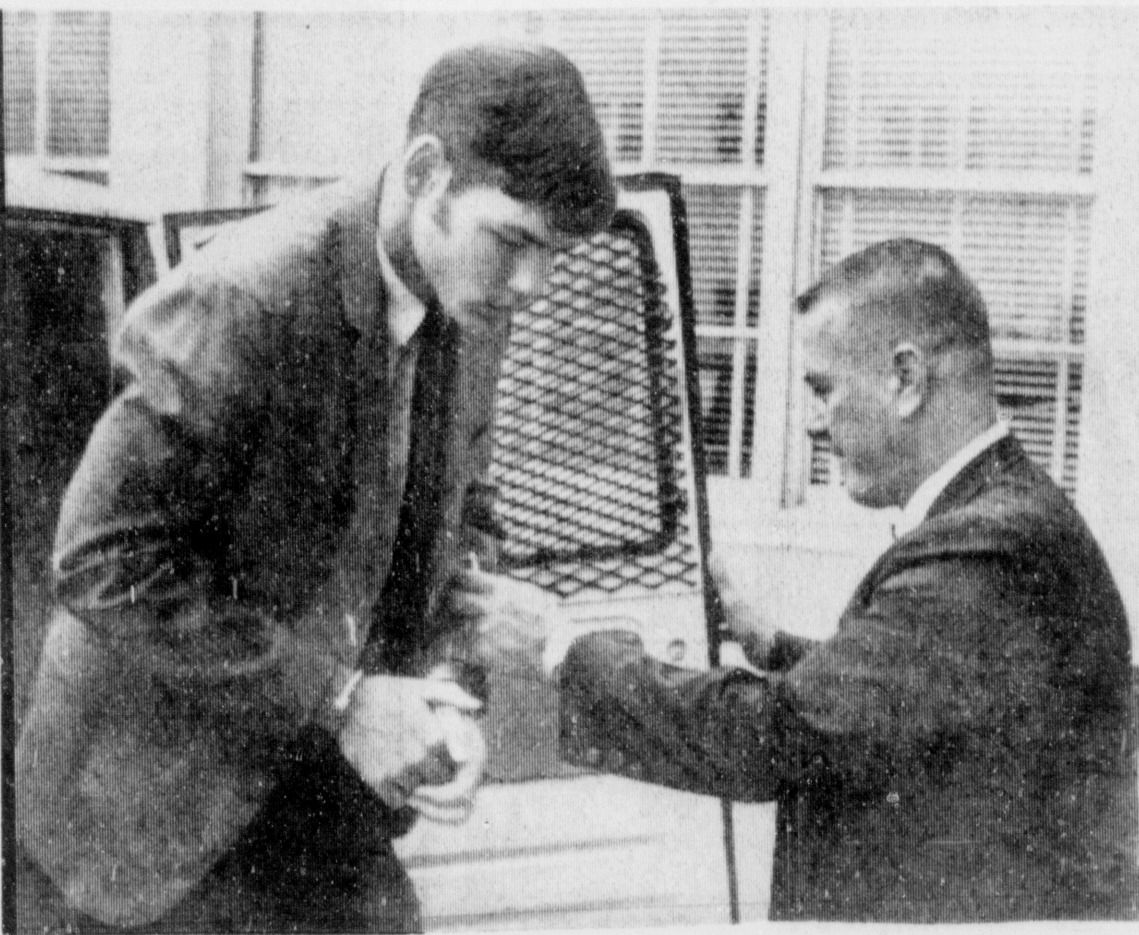

Some of the spots turned out to be human blood, the same type as Miss Beineman's according to another witness, Walter Holz of the Michigan Health Department crime laboratory.

Holz conceded under cross-examination that about 40 per cent of the population has Type A blood, the kind found on the basement floor.

Holz also testified that many of the spots turned out to be human blood, the same type as Miss Beineman's according to another witness, Walter Holz of the Michigan Health Department crime laboratory.

Those Noisy Birds:

Poultry Section Sights, Sounds Attract Crowds

The Fifth Department of the U. P. State Fair—Poultry and Pet Stock—is one of the most colorful and certainly the noisiest on the Fairgrounds.

Nevertheless, Fair patrons find their way there in large numbers, to see and hear the many breeds of chickens, the geese, ducks, turkeys, guinea fowl and other entries, including rabbits. The latter seem to take the whole affair in stride and spend most of their time sleeping or at least pretending to sleep.

John H. Matthews of Negaunee, superintendent of the department, has been raising chickens for 50 years, but his trade is that of carpenter. While folks wandering through the poultry barn were fascinated by the cacophony of cackles, chirps, quacks, squeaks, growling and gobbling, Matthews kept right on talking.

Deer Cause Two Mishaps

Stray deer were responsible for two accidents on U. S. 2 Thursday, resulting in extensive damage to two cars.

According to State Police, an auto driven by Paul Lippens, 17, Wells, collided with a deer in the roadway in front of the Buck Inn, Escanaba, resulting in heavy damage to the front end of his car. Lippens escaped injury.

A second crash was reported to troopers when Charles Golladay, 48, Van Buren, Mich., struck a deer just east of Rapid River, resulting in a large amount of damage to the side of his auto. The car had to be towed from the scene of the collision. Golladay escaped injury, officers said.

Ask U. P. Speedup:

Teacher-Board Contracts Slow

Teacher contract settlements in the Upper Peninsula are running somewhat behind the pace of this time last year, according to Arnold Korpi, area director of the Michigan Education Association.

"The negotiations pace needs to be quickened in most of these unsettled school districts if agreements with teachers are to be reached before the traditional opening of school," Korpi said.

He said all MEA-affiliated teacher associations are making every effort to speed up these vital professional negotiations.

"Teachers are taking every legal avenue that is provided in contract bargaining talks in order to arrive at a satisfactory settlement as quickly as possible," he said.

Big Bay de Noc
Korpi reported that 7 school districts in the eastern end of the Upper Peninsula are still without contract settlements, 10 districts are still negotiating with teachers in the center of the Upper Peninsula, while 14 contract negotiations remain to be completed in the western end of the peninsula.

The status of these central area and western district negotiations, this week, is as follows:

In the Big Bay de Noc schools, school board negotiators rejected their previously achieved tentative agreement and teachers are now considering filing unfair labor charges with the Michigan Labor Relations Board. Meanwhile, another mediation session has been requested and may be scheduled with a state-assigned mediator.

In Breitung Township schools, where one mediation session has already been held, MLRB mediator Walter Quillico has scheduled a second session for today in an attempt to resolve the deadlock in negotiations.

Bargaining talks in the Champion - Humboldt schools have been recessed but are expected to begin again shortly to resolve the impasse.

Talks were recessed in Ely Township schools, but teacher and board negotiators have now returned for regular negotiation sessions.

In the Gwinn schools, in Forsythe Township, talks are at the impasse stage. Mediator Quillico had scheduled a mediation session there earlier this week.

In Ishpeming, teachers are negotiating some aspects of a two-year contract which are reopened in the second year of that contract.

Negotiators in the Marquette-Alger schools are "making good progress," Korpi reported, but in Menominee, both sides are still at impasse.

Community College
Some issues remain to be resolved in negotiations currently underway in the North Dickinson school district; an impasse situation has developed in the negotiations in Norway-Vulcan schools; school districts in Keweenaw, Houghton, Baraga, Ontonagon, Gogebic, and Iron counties, have 14 unsettled negotiations; and in Baraga, bargaining talks have been temporarily recessed.

Negotiations have been renewed in Bergland and slow progress is reported; in Bessemer, an impasse situation has developed. State-assigned mediator Edmund Phillips has scheduled a mediation session with negotiators for August 14. Mediation was scheduled by Phillips for negotiations at Gogebic Community College for Wednesday, where some progress has been reported in recent talks.

Army Training

CAMP MCCOY, Wis. (AP)—A Livonia Army Reserve unit is conducting the largest training exercise for military police ever held by the U. S. Army. The 300th Military Police Prisoner of War Command has created the scenario for the massive handling of mock prisoners at Camp McCoy, Wis. The project involves 2,500 troops from 19 Army Reserve units throughout the United States.

Great Variety In Hobbycraft

Mirroring the great variety of interests among people of the area is the hobbycraft show in the Industrial Exhibit Building at the U. P. State Fair.

The range is from a rather large model fair that won the junior sweepstakes for Helen Lyons and Janet Barron to collections of old buttons. The second place in the junior sweepstakes was an electrically operated weather station model by Debbie Dishno of Stephenson.

Mrs. Bernice Schmitt, department superintendent, pointed to the rocks and minerals collections as an example of how competition over the years has sharpened up quality of exhibits. Senior sweepstakes winner was Louis Jensen of Gladstone, with a finely mounted and labeled collection of rocks and minerals. Other striking "rock" collections were shown by the two Albert Murrays and Vicki Marenger of Escanaba.

Second in senior sweepstakes was a Madonna carved from a block of wood by Mrs. Dorothy Ayotte. Mrs. Robert Bishop of Gladstone shows an outstanding rag doll collection.

Best of the model homes were constructed by Tom Creten and Robert St. Martin while the blue ribbon for model planes went to James King of Marquette. The work of the model builders forms one of the largest and most interesting parts of the exhibit. There are model ships and even a model sauna and among the juniors especially model cars are the thing and dozens are entered.

Ray Mayotte Jr. has the class of the taxidermy display. There are oodles of collections: stamps, coins, medals, buttons, shells and others. Craftsmen in wood and metals and such exotic materials as popical sticks and plastic wrappers are showing their work.

Hiawatha Forest Logs Would Build 180 New Homes

In the year ending June 30, the Hiawatha National Forest sold enough sawlogs to build 180 three bedroom houses, enough pulpwood to keep the Escanaba Daily Press in business for 180 years, and enough cedar posts to build a fence from Ironwood to Sault Ste. Marie, according to Evans Lutz, timber management staffman.

Twelve per cent more sawlogs were sold than the previous year going from 1,600,000 board feet to 1,857,000 board feet. Pulpwood sold increased from 53,800 cords to 61,820 cords.

Sawlogs cut during the year increased slightly but the pulpwood cut decreased 19 per cent going from 62,684 cords down to 50,940 cords.

This reduction in pulpwood cut reflects the poor markets "enjoyed" by all of Michigan this last year. A recent release by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources shows that pulpwood cut for all of the Upper Peninsula was down 31 per cent last year.

Markets for sawlogs continue strong and the pulpwood market is recovering, Lutz said, and the Hiawatha National Forest is looking for a banner year this year.

Girl Scout Camping Program Underway

The Peninsula Waters Girl Scout Council is launching a "first" with the operation of troop camping with a core staff during August in the Upper Peninsula.

Directing the camp is Judith Schneider of Milwaukee, assisted by Laura Shepherd.

Arrangements for the pilot project have been made by Mrs. Frank Gerstenecker, Ishing, chairman of the council's program services committee. Sites being used based upon troop's choice are Mehl Lake Troop Camp Site in Marquette County near Gwinn, and Mead Troop Camp Site in Delta County near Rapid River.

Troops with their leaders will be camping for two nights and three days, doing their own planning, their own cooking, setting up their campsite, and getting requested assistance from the core staff in accomplishing what they would like to do. Program activities will vary from campkeeping, cooking, nature, swimming, boating and canoeing to joint activities planned with the other troops on the site.

This first year's operation will be evaluated and plans for offering the same program on these sites and others in the U. P. for 1970 will be made this fall.

This type of camping represents one of several types of camping available to girls in the Peninsula Waters Girl Scout Council. Day camping, regular troop camping, and special camping events are all

Board To Hear Ferndale Charge Of Discrimination

LANSING (AP) — The State Board of Education has agreed to discuss charges of discrimination with spokesmen for the Ferndale School District.

The charges were brought by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Ferndale board members have charged the state board sided with HEW before giving the district a chance to state its case. The meeting will be held next month.

Leroy Augenstein, a member of the state board, earlier urged the board to hold a meeting with school officials.

"If the federal charges are incorrect, then we need to be have like true correspondents—the charges are jointly against Ferndale and the state—since in that case they need our help and protection against HEW."

"On the other hand," he added, "if there is segregation which impairs the education of some of the youngsters, then we—not HEW—should set it straight," he added.

Federal officials charged that the school district used federal funds in an all-Negro school, a situation that HEW claims was the result of action taken over the years by the Ferndale Board of Education.

"What noise?" he asked. "Oh, that. You get so you don't notice after while."

There were hundreds of entries, more than last year, and the judging has been completed by M. M. Manderfield.

The variety of entries is impressive and includes 112 bantams, 306 big chickens, 70 ducks, 69 geese, 47 rabbits, plus smaller numbers of pheasants and guinea hens. There are even a few strange-looking fowl named Turkeys—which appear to be a cross between chickens and turkeys, with none of the handsome aspects of either breed.

Matthews is perhaps the largest exhibitor at the Fair in the poultry and pet stock division with about 150 chickens, including 52 bantams. His entries won him a total of 11 grand champion ribbons.

Mrs. Arthur Hammerberg of Danforth, another major exhibitor, "won on just about everything she brought in," said Matthews; and David Reach of Vulcan brought in a large number of ducks and geese.

Mrs. Albert Weldum of Rock won a number of grand championship with her entries; and other major winners include Grover Sciotte of Marquette and Mike Gibbon of Rapid River.

Girl Scout Camping Program Underway

The Peninsula Waters Girl Scout Council is launching a "first" with the operation of troop camping with a core staff during August in the Upper Peninsula.

Directing the camp is Judith Schneider of Milwaukee, assisted by Laura Shepherd.

Arrangements for the pilot project have been made by Mrs. Frank Gerstenecker, Ishing, chairman of the council's program services committee. Sites being used based upon troop's choice are Mehl Lake Troop Camp Site in Marquette County near Gwinn, and Mead Troop Camp Site in Delta County near Rapid River.

Troops with their leaders will be camping for two nights and three days, doing their own planning, their own cooking, setting up their campsite, and getting requested assistance from the core staff in accomplishing what they would like to do. Program activities will vary from campkeeping, cooking, nature, swimming, boating and canoeing to joint activities planned with the other troops on the site.

This first year's operation will be evaluated and plans for offering the same program on these sites and others in the U. P. for 1970 will be made this fall.

This type of camping represents one of several types of camping available to girls in the Peninsula Waters Girl Scout Council. Day camping, regular troop camping, and special camping events are all

Board To Hear Ferndale Charge Of Discrimination

LANSING (AP) — The State Board of Education has agreed to discuss charges of discrimination with spokesmen for the Ferndale School District.

The charges were brought by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Ferndale board members have charged the state board sided with HEW before giving the district a chance to state its case.

The meeting will be held next month.

Leroy Augenstein, a member of the state board, earlier urged the board to hold a meeting with school officials.

"If the federal charges are incorrect, then we need to behave like true correspondents—the charges are jointly against Ferndale and the state—since in that case they need our help and protection against HEW."

"On the other hand," he added, "if there is segregation which impairs the education of some of the youngsters, then we—not HEW—should set it straight," he added.

Federal officials charged that the school district used federal funds in an all-Negro school, a situation that HEW claims was the result of action taken over the years by the Ferndale Board of Education.

KIWANIS GIFT — A gift from the Kiwanis Club three years ago helped make it possible for Linda Solis of Gladstone to take a red ribbon in the mediumweight beef steer class at the U.P. State Fair. The Hereford heifer pictured here with Linda is the result of offspring from an original heifer given to Norman Dittich of the Delta 4-H Club. "Linda has done a real fine job in raising this heifer," said Joseph Heirman, Delta County extension agent. Heirman added that he hoped this animal would result in many more 4-H beef animals in the future.

Background On North Ireland

By The Associated Press
THE DISPUTE: Roman Catholics, who number only one in three of the population in Northern Ireland, say the Protestant majority discriminates against them in jobs, housing and voting.

THE BACKGROUND: After fighting for years for independence, predominantly Catholic Southern Ireland, which has 26 counties, signed a treaty with Britain in 1921 to become the Irish Free State with dominion status. Northern Ireland, with six counties, elected to stay with Britain. Southern Ireland, which has a population of 2,910,000, dropped out of the commonwealth in 1949 and became the Irish Republic. Northern Ireland's population is 1,502,000.

THE POLITICS: Northern Ireland is dominated by the Unionist party, which is Protestant and for practical purposes is an arm of Britain's Conservative party. The main opposition is the Nationalists, whose members are Catholic. Under new leadership, the Northern Ireland government has made some concessions to Catholics, but the minority complain that the pace has been too slow.

THE MILITARY: British troops sent into Northern Ireland are regulars and thus differ from the Black and Tans recruited into the Royal Irish Constabulary to deal with terrorism by the Irish Republican Army during the three years preceding the 1921 partition.

The Black and Tans were so called by the Irish because of their khaki-tan uniforms, black hats and black armbands. Most were British army officers demobilized after World War I. The Irish accused them of indiscriminate reprisals against not only terrorists but innocent civilians, including the shooting of suspects without trial.

Eastern Coed Top Shoeshiner

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — Pretty Miss Linda Ruzzin has fast gained a reputation as the shoeshine gal of Mount Clemens.

The 21-year-old coed is working as a bootblack at Bill Bader's barbershop in Mount Clemens to earn money for her senior year as an art student at Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti.

"Business is good," says Miss Ruzzin.

"I'm surprised," she added. But Bader isn't so surprised at the busy shoeshine trade in his shop. "She does a wonderful job, and she's got brains and everything to go along with it."

"When she shines shoes," Bader sighed, "these guys just wilt."

Miss Ruzzin, whose ready smile has won her the nickname "Sparkle," charges 50 cents for a shoeshine. But she gets lots of 25 and 50 cent tips.

Her entrance into the business started as a joke.

Bader was complaining about the difficulties of getting bootblacks about three weeks ago as Linda got her hair cut.

"Well, I'll shine the shoes," Linda giggled. She knew her YMCA summer job was about to end, and summer jobs being hard to find, she figured it was worth it.

Bader agreed to it, but said, "I was just flabbergasted. A doll like that asking me to shine shoes."

One young customer, when asked if he wanted his shoes shined, said, "Oh yeah, sure."

But as Linda headed to the bootblack chair, he stammered, "Hey, I didn't think you were serious. No...no, I don't want a shine."

But the young man quickly changed his mind and Miss Ruzzin began buffing a mirror-like shine on his shoes.

Bus Drivers Take License Numbers

LANSING (AP)—Rep. Thomas Anderson, D-Southgate, today said a recently-enacted law would cut down on motorists who pass school buses that have stopped to pick up or discharge children.

The new law permits school bus drivers to take down the license number of the offending car and the owner will be cited for the violation.

An owner can avoid prosecution by showing that he was not the driver at the time of the incident, Anderson said.

Auto Plants End Shutdowns

DETROIT (AP) — New, 1970-model cars rolled off production lines at a rapidly increasing rate this week as 19 more assembly plants returned to operation, the trade publication Automotive News reported.

Ending plant shutdowns for model changeover, the industry scheduled production of 69,531 cars this week, compared with 22,084 last week and 33,228 in the comparable week of 1968.

This week's scheduled output boosts total production so far this year to 5,053,151, considerably less than the 5,504,991 by the same point of 1968.

Truck makers planned to produce 33,817 units this week, compared with 28,248 in the previous week and 22,321 in the corresponding week of last year. Truck production so far this year increased to 1,199,782, compared with 1,205,095 at the same stage of 1968.

Fair's Antiques Picture Of Past

By VICTOR POWERS
Many people are fascinated by old things and especially the everyday articles that people used in the "good old days."

At the antique department in the U. P. State Fair they find evidence that knives, forks and spoons as well as china dishes were used by residents of the Peninsula 50 years, yes, even 100 years ago.

There are other things too, such as a rather crude steel made of a copper wash boiler and assorted additions of piping that won a prize for John Parins, Escanaba. It is claimed that it provided holiday spirits in the era before 1900.

Giving the lie to any claims that our grandmothers were overlooked when it came to labor-saving devices is a 100-year-old washing machine that David Martin brought down from Munising.

Dominating this year's show are the many entries of Mrs. B. Swanson of Rapid River who captured top prizes in many classes with such entries as a nearly complete collection of U. S. small cents starting in the mid-1850s, an old dress and cape, ceramic punch bowl and goblets and cut glass.

Mary Miller shows a collection of 10 silver souvenir spoons and Mrs. Jack Magnuson scored with a fine old silver tablespoon.

Among the old pictures were a couple of prize winning tin-types, one of a man and woman shown by Mrs. Kaino Ojanen, Escanaba, and a second tintype of a child, entered by Mrs. Merl Dye. Mrs. Ojanen also showed an old collar pleater.

Tops in the old dolls is a beauty shown by Mrs. Clifford Larson of Wells. Among the specially dishes is a pewter mustache cup that Mrs. Marion Scherer, Escanaba, brought in.

There is also some quaint old jewelry, watches, copper ware and books and cards.

Workers in the department are Mrs. Helen Costley, superintendent, Mrs. Veronica LaCasse and Mrs. Mary Jean Timmer.

Motor Vehicle Fund Up 9%

LANSING (AP) — Motor vehicle highway funds paid to counties, cities and villages total $73 million for the three months of April, May and June, according to a Michigan Highway Commission report.

Henrik E. Stafseth, state highway director, said the sum is $5.9 million, nearly nine percent, more than that paid out during the same period last year. Part of the increase is due to increased license fees.

These fees and state taxes on gasoline and diesel fuel sales generate revenue for the fund, collected by the state department and distributed according to a formula set by the Legislature.

The Mackinac Bridge Authority receives $3.5 million, the Highway Department $33.5 million, 83 counties $24.8 million and the state's 528 incorporated cities and villages $14.6 million.

Placing first in Aged Cow, Junior Yearling Heifer, Junior Heifer, Pair of Females and Cow and Last Calf Born was Rosanne Rocchietti, of Norway, Junior Champion.
All events, Grand Champion was won by Rosanne Rocchietti and Reserve Champion was won by Debbie Bramschreiber's entry.
Mike DeVoght placed first in Fitting and Showmanship for those ages 10 to 12, and Rosanne Rocchietti for those 13 and older.

Eastern Coed Top Shoeshiner

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — Pretty Miss Linda Ruzzin has fast gained a reputation as the shoeshine gal of Mount Clemens.
The 21-year-old coed is working as a bootblack at Bill Bade's barbershop in Mount Clemens to earn money for her senior year as an art student at Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti.
"Business is good," says Miss Ruzzin.
"I'm surprised," she added.
But Bade isn't so surprised at the busy shoeshine trade in his shop: "She does a wonderful job, and she's got brains and everything to go along with it."
"When she shines shoes," Bade sighed, "these guys just wilt."
Miss Ruzzin, whose ready smile has won her the nickname "Sparkle," charges 50 cents for a shoeshine. But she gets lots of 25 and 50 cent tips.
Her entrance into the business started as a joke.
Bade was complaining about the difficulties of getting bootblacks about three weeks ago as Linda got her hair cut.
"Well, I'll shine the shoes," Linda giggled. She knew her YMCA summer job was about to end, and summer jobs being hard to find, she figured it was worth it.
Bade agreed to it, but said, "I was just flabbergasted. A doll like that asking me to shine shoes."
One young customer, when asked if he wanted his shoes shined, said, "Oh yeah, sure."
But as Linda headed to the bootblack chair, he stammered, "Hey, I didn't think you were serious. No...no, I don't want a shine."
But the young man quickly changed his mind and Miss Ruzzin began buffing a mirror-like shine on his shoes.

All-Breed Champions
Grand Champion Guernsey winner in the Junior division, those 12 and under, was Dennis Klein of Wallace with Roger Beauchamp, Reserve Champion. Brown Swiss Grand and Reserve Champions were Gwenn Van Drese of Cornell and Jim Mayers of Bark River, respectively. Dan Wender of Iron Mountain was the Grand Champion in the Holstein section with his brother, Donald being awarded Reserve Champion.
Junior All-Breed Champion was Don Wender with Carol Magnuson of Vulcan winning again a second year as Senior All-Breed Champion.

Bus Drivers Take License Numbers

LANSING (AP)—Rep. Thomas Anderson, D-Southgate, today said a recently-enacted law would cut down on motorists who pass school buses that have stopped to pick up or discharge children.
The new law permits school bus drivers to take down the license number of the offending car and the owner will be cited for the violation.
An owner can avoid prosecution by showing that he was not the driver at the time of the incident, Anderson said.

Auto Plants End Shutdowns

DETROIT (AP) — New, 1970-model cars rolled off production lines at a rapidly increasing rate this week as 19 more assembly plants returned to operation, the trade publication Automotive News reported.
Ending plant shutdowns for model changeover, the industry scheduled production of 69,531 cars this week, compared with 22,084 last week and 33,228 in the comparable week of 1968.
This week's scheduled output boosts total production so far this year to 5,053,151, considerably less than the 5,504,991 by the same point of 1968.
Truck makers planned to produce 33,317 units this week, compared with 28,248 in the previous week and 22,321 in the corresponding week of last year. Truck production so far this year increased to 1,199,782, compared with 1,205,095 at the same stage of 1968.

Fair Brightened By Flower Show

There's a "pleasure island" in the center of the big exhibition building at the Fair, where many varieties of colorful and fragrant flowers brighten their corner this Fairweek.
Last night the general flower displays were removed and the space was taken over by the gladiolus for that special show continuing through this week.
Mrs. Helen Jensen, Gladstone, superintendent of the floriculture department, noted there were fewer flower entries this year because of the unfavorable growing weather earlier in the summer. Wild flowers entries were down also.
But there were blue ribbon winners in wild flowers — a vase of flowers arranged and entered by Stella Rodman of Escanaba; a basket by Marion Nivison, Gladstone; 25 of one variety by Amy Thorin of Escanaba; and a table arrangement by Stella Rodman of Escanaba.
Entries in the dahlia class were outstanding, with top awards going to Mrs. William Johnson, Gladstone, for decorative red and white; to Jack Pearce, Escanaba, for lavender ball type, and for cactus types.
Awards for airy baby breath went to Mrs. Amanda Dahlquist, Escanaba; tiger lilies, Marian Virbisky, Carney; cosmos, Mike Derkos, Escanaba; achillea, Lorraine Mankiewicz, Rock; yellow-eyed daisies, Mrs. William Johnson, Gladstone Rte. 1.
Among house plants entries coleus and fuschias won top awards for Agnes and Herman Johnson of Bark River; tuberos and small-flowered begonias won for Jack Pearce of Escanaba; and Miss Lydia Cowell of Kipling received a blue ribbon for red and pink geraniums.
Awards for African violets went to Ila Pettier of Escanaba, double blue; Beatrice Sheehan, Gladstone, bi-color; Mrs. Francis Brazeau, Escanaba, pink; Mrs. Arthur Giroux, Escanaba, white.
Walter Wickert judged the entries assisted by Gene Thorbahn of Gladstone.

Motor Vehicle Fund Up 9%

LANSING (AP) — Motor vehicle highway funds paid to counties, cities and villages total $73 million for the three months of April, May and June, according to a Michigan Highway Commission report.
Henrik E. Stafseth, state highway director, said the sum is $5.9 million, nearly nine per cent, more than that paid out during the same period last year. Part of the increase is due to increased license fees.
These fees and state taxes on gasoline and diesel fuel sales generate revenue for the fund, collected by the state department and distributed according to a formula set by the Legislature.
The Mackinac Bridge Authority receives $3.5 million, the Highway Department $33.5 million, 83 counties $24.8 million and the state's 528 incorporated cities and villages $14.6 million.

Fair's Antiques Picture Of Past

By VICTOR POWERS
Many people are fascinated by old things and especially the everyday articles that people used in the "good old days."
At the antique department in the U. P. State Fair they find evidence that knives, forks and spoons as well as china dishes were used by residents of the Peninsula 50 years, yes, even 100 years ago.
There are other things too, such as a rather crude still made of a copper wash boiler and assorted additions of piping that won a prize for John Parins, Escanaba. It is claimed that it provided holiday spirits in the era before 1900.
Giving the lie to any claims that our grandmothers were overlooked when it came to labor-saving devices is a 100-year-old washing machine that David Martin brought down from Munising.
Dominating this year's show are the many entries of Mrs. B. Swanson of Rapid River who captured top prizes in many classes with such entries as a nearly complete collection of U. S. small cents starting in the mid-1850s, an old dress and cape, ceramic punch bowl and goblets and cut glass.
Mary Miller shows a collection of 10 silver souvenir spoons and Mrs. Jack Magnuson scored with a fine old silver tablespoon.
Among the old pictures were a couple of prize winning tin-types, one of a man and woman shown by Mrs. Kaino Ojanen, Escanaba, and a second tintype of a child, entered by Mrs. Merl Dye. Mrs. Ojanen also showed an old collar plate.
Tops in the old dolls is a beauty shown by Mrs. Clifford Larson of Wells. Among the specialty dishes is a pewter mustache cup that Mrs. Marion Scherer, Escanaba, brought in. There is also some quaint old jewelry, watches, copper ware and books and cards.
Workers in the department are Mrs. Helen Costley, superintendent, Mrs. Veronica LaCasse and Mrs. Mary Jean Timmer.

Irish Violence

Any American who has not spent some time in Northern Ireland finds it hard to believe that religious prejudice runs so deep there that it incites violent rioting. No doubt, the citizens of Northern Ireland find racial prejudice in the United States equally incomprehensible. Actually there are some interesting parallels between the two situations.

In Belfast, the capital of Ulster (the six northern counties that comprise Northern Ireland), Protestants and Catholics actually live in separate sections of the city, just as whites and blacks live in segregated areas in American cities.

The Belfast Telegram publishes want ads which clearly state that "Catholics need not apply" or "Protestants need not apply." Flat admissions to job discrimination. The Protestant majority has systematically denied the Catholic minority its civil rights, just as the white majority has done to the black majority in this country.

One of the most effective means of suppression of the Catholics is by disfranchising them. This is accomplished through a system that restricts the right to vote in local elections to property owners and their wives. Since Protestants are more likely to own property than the poorer Catholics in Ulster, Protestants are able to maintain political supremacy even in towns where the Catholic population is in the majority. Catholics want the one-man, one-vote principle established in order to abolish the unfair advantage held by the Protestants.

Catholics also are discriminated against in job opportunities and housing in Northern Ireland.

Just as the Negro has turned to rioting as an expression of his discontent, frustration and unequal treatment, so the Catholics in Northern Ireland have turned to the streets, where their protests have become steadily more shrill and destructive. Belfast last weekend experienced its worst violence since before World War II as scores of persons were injured in rioting over religious differences. The situation grew worse this week at Londonderry, where rioting has been virtually uncontrollable since Tuesday when a Protestant parade touched off more violence.

Northern Ireland is a beautiful country, washed so often by rain that it easily lives up to its Emerald Isle sobriquet. Its 5,451 square miles amount to only about a third of the land area of the Upper Peninsula (16,437 square miles), but it has about five times as many people as the Northern Peninsula — 1,500,000, compared to the 300,000 living here.

Two out of three of Ulster's 1,500,000 citizens are Protestant. This is quite the reverse of the population mix in the Republic of Ireland to the South, where more than 90 per cent of the people are Catholic. The two areas have been separated politically since 1920 when Ireland was partitioned by the British Parliament.

The partitioning is at the root of the religious strife in Ulster. The Irish Protestants fear that if the Catholics ever attain sufficient political power, they will attempt to engineer a reunion of Ulster with the Republic of Ireland. In that event, the Protestant majority would become a minority ruled by Catholics.

Historically, the separation between Protestant Orange and Catholic Green is too sharp to permit ready blending, but somehow the two must learn to live in peace together in Northern Ireland, just as black and white must learn to live together in the United States.

The only alternative in either case is civil war.

The Family Lawyer

Prefabricated Will

Whether you are aware of it or not, a "will" has already been prepared for you. Known as the "statute of descent and distribution," it is a plan drawn up by your state legislature, to be used after your death in case you fail to make a will of your own.

How does this prefabricated will divide up your estate? Generally speaking, it follows a kind of law of averages, dividing things up the way an average person probably would.

In theory, that makes sense. But in practice, the use of cut-and-dried rules can have some startling consequences. For example:

In one case, a youth who murdered his father was held entitled to his estate. Under the state statute (since changed), a son's rights were automatic — no one having thought about the possibility of murder.

In another case, a woman was awarded her husband's estate even though she was living in adultery at the time of his death. To outraged objections by his relatives, the court replied: "It is unnecessary to discuss wisdom or morality. It is sufficient that the legislature has declared the rules by which the rights of the parties must be determined."

True, these are extreme cases. But the prefabricated will also works out badly in many everyday circumstances. Take the situation when a man dies, leaving small children and only a modest estate.

In most states, if he has not made a will of his own, only part of his estate would go to the widow — the balance going directly to the children. For the widow, this could mean years of going through court procedures, for permission to spend the children's money on the ordinary expenses of life.

The trouble is not that the lawmakers, in drawing up the prefabricated will, don't try to be fair. Rather, the trouble is that they cannot possibly foresee the particular needs of each individual family.

They cannot know, for instance, that one of your children needs more protection than the others, or that you would like to make a grateful bequest to an old friend, or that you want to lend your support to a favorite charity.

No prefabricated will can possibly take account of such things. In fact, nobody can but you.

LAGGING BEHIND

High Water Damage Mounts Along Lakes

By A. F. MAHAN

DETROIT — (AP) — With damages mounting and levels near or surpassing high-water records for this past year, the Great Lakes are expected to wreak more havoc along their 10,000 miles of shoreline in 1970.

Waves eating away embankments, particularly the high bluffs along eastern shores of lower Lake Michigan, are threatening to topple scores of homes and vacation cottages, whose front or back yards already have vanished.

Once high and dry private docks now are awash, susceptible to being carried away in storms. Where sandy beaches once stretched outward there now is water. Nearby low-lying areas once above water level now are marshes.

Some cruiser owners have found themselves unable to get their pleasure craft out of boat-houses — rising water having shortened door-top clearance too much. Still others have found themselves cut off from the lakes, unable to get under canal bridges because higher water gave them no clearance.

Among those disturbed as waves eat their land is Carl Kuyat of St. Joseph, Mich., who says he's stopped the encroachment at least temporarily by dumping old automobiles over the cliff.

Charging him with pollution, the State Department of Natural Resources ordered Kuyat to halt his do-it-yourself project last February.

Mrs. Kuyat says "we've got it stopped," but estimated that before they did the lake had claimed between 30 and 50 feet of their backyard.

No figures are available for 1969 damages, but the Lakes Survey District of the Army's Corps of Engineers estimated somewhat similar high waters did $61.2 million damages in the springs of 1951 and 1952.

And the three lakes over which man has virtually no control — Michigan, Huron and Erie — are expected to start their annual spring rises next year at levels considerably higher than they did this year.

High Precipitation Experts attribute the high waters to above normal precipitation in all of the five lake basins this year and last.

John Hanna, public information officer for the Lakes Survey District, explains what's happening thus: "Suppose you turned on the bathtub spigots full blast and pulled the plug — the water would keep rising. The outlet just can't handle all of it."

Speaking before the Great Lakes Commission, made up of representatives from the eight states bordering the lakes, Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley of Michigan said last month that "today's damages could be much higher (than those of 1951-52) because of increased development along the shorelines."

Pointing to serious problems occasioned by low water in the early 1960s, Kelley said that "methods must be found to keep our lake levels within reasonable bounds."

Lake Erie's average July level was the highest for any July since the Lakes Survey District began keeping tabs on the inland seas back in 1880. It was only two and three-quarters inches below the all-time one-month record set in May, 1952.

Michigan, Huron and Superior were less than an inch and a half below their highest levels for this century last Friday.

Both Michigan and Huron, joined by the Straits of Mackinac, are expected to start next spring's rise at least a foot above the level prevailing at their upturn last March.

While the lakes rise every spring and fall every winter, the Corps of Engineers says eras of high water and low water follow no fixed cycle. Records confirm this.

Precipitation — in snow or rain — and how much of it gets into the lakes are the controlling factors.

In the first six months of this year, the Lake Superior basin received 16.67 inches, against an average of 16.06 inches. In Michigan's basin it measured 21.33 this year, against an average of 17.72.

The 1969 precipitation against the average for Huron was 19.51-17.56; Erie 23.17-19.57; Ontario, 19.71-19.63.

An inch of rainfall distributed evenly over an acre of ground is the equivalent to about 27,205 gallons, according to hydrologists of the U. S. Geological Survey.

It takes 640 acres to make a square mile, and Lake Superior's basin stretches over 80,000 square miles. So just one inch of rainfall over it amounts to approximately 1.4 quadrillion gallons — and it got 16.67 inches in this year's first half.

But not all of it went into the lake.

Where Does It Go?

Many things figure into just how much did: Whether the rainfall was on frozen ground and ran off quickly; whether it fell on dry or already wet ground; whether it was in the fall or spring when trees, plants and other vegetation were absorbing large amounts; whether the weather was hot and evaporation high; whether lake-feeding streams were high or low, etc.

The Great Lakes are tremendous bodies of water. If the contiguous 48 states were level, had a rim around them and all the water in the Great Lakes were dumped out it would form a lake nine feet deep from the Atlantic to Pacific and Gulf to Canada, according to Lakes Survey engineers.

High water is not unwelcome by all who use the lakes. It means money to ship operators. For each inch of water above the so-called low-water datum line (or guaranteed channel depth) a freighter can take on an additional 100 tons of cargo.

As of last Friday, the lakes ranged up to 47 inches above the low-water datum line, and all were above both their average levels for the last 10 years and for the 1860-1968 period.

Build Seawall

And the Lakes Survey forecasts all except Ontario will exceed their 10-year and long-term average levels for the next six months. Ontario is expected to dip below in December but turn upward in January.

The Michigan Highway Department has announced plans to build a 3,900-foot seawall at a cost of $1 million to protect a section of the Interstate 94 business route through St. Joseph.

Cliff Johnson, a Michigan conservation officer, reports that a man who was interested in buying lakefront property on the Canadian side of Lake St. Clair was told a temporary shutdown of the flow across the American side at Niagara Falls was responsible for the high water.

But Johnson and Lake Survey experts agree this has had absolutely nothing to do with lake levels.

Some have complained that Canada is diverting too much water into Lake Superior. But Canada has been diverting 5,000 cubic feet per second since 1956, at the request of the United States.

That diversion was agreed upon by treaty and was to compensate the lakes for 5,000 cubic feet per second being drained off at Niagara by Canada for hydroelectric power generation.

Chicago also drains 5,000 cubic feet per second to use in increasing the flow of the Chicago River toward the Mississippi.

Controls Hanna points out that 5,000 cubic feet per second is "only a drop in the bucket, so to speak, when you consider the St. Marys River is running 115,000 cubic feet per second" from Lake Superior.

The Corps of Engineers can partially control the outflow of Superior and Ontario by dams with gates which can be opened to speed the flow or closed to slow it. But there's no control anywhere else.

Some have suggested widening of the Detroit and St. Clair rivers and possibly some control works on Lake St. Clair would provide the answer. It might, engineers agree, but it would be too costly to undertake, with the river having to be pushed several blocks into downtown Detroit and into Windsor, Ont., on the other side.

New Vision Standards May Restrict Driving

LANSING (AP) — Motorists with impaired eyesight are liable to be subject to driving restrictions under new vision standards adopted by the secretary of state.

To obtain an unrestricted driver's license under the new program, drivers must possess 20-40 minimum corrected vision and a peripheral field of view greater than 110 degrees, said Dr. Roger Kuhlman of Grand Ledge, former chairman of the Michigan Optometric Association's Motorists Vision Committee.

"Less than one half of one per cent will be taken off the road because of the higher standards," said Kuhlman.

Televacuators One half of one per cent would be about 25,000 motorists. The newly established standards are the result of five years work by the Michigan Optometric Association, added Kuhlman.

To enforce the standards adopted this month, the secretary of state's office has purchased televacuators to test a person's eyesight instead of using the old familiar Snellen chart with varied sizes of type normally seen hanging on license branch walls.

In addition to measuring a person's peripheral vision — a new requirement — the machine also is expected to eliminate cheating.

"People would memorize the Snellen chart," Kuhlman said. "They'd pass it from memory rather than what they could see."

"There is no possible chance of memorization with the televacuators," he said. Kuhlman said he expects the new machine to point out visual deficiencies in an estimated one million drivers, deficiencies that he says can be corrected.

All driver's license examining stations are expected to be equipped with the new machines by Friday.

Fair Objective

"I know of no other state in the union that can touch this program," said Kuhlman. "This is absolutely the best in the country. It is also fair and objective."

The Snellen chart was viewed by Kuhlman as a less than ideal method of checking a person's eyesight since it would often become dirty and difficult to see and persons would stand at varying distances from the chart before reading the letters.

The televacuators are focused on infinity, Kuhlman said. "A person has to be able to see at least 100 feet."

Under ideal conditions with the Snellen chart, he added, a person was required to see only 20 feet.

Contract Bridge

By B. JAY BECKER

You are South, both sides vulnerable. The bidding has been:

East South West North
Pass Pass Pass 1♠
Pass ?

What would you bid now with each of the following four hands?

1. ♠QJ98 ♥K82 ♦A986 ♣74
2. ♠— ♥J74 ♦J9853 ♣J9872
3. ♠Q6 ♥QJ52 ♦AJ73 ♣K96
4. ♠KJ82 ♥95 ♦10 ♣AJ9843

1. Three spades. The responses to partner's opening bid frequently take on a different meaning after a player has passed originally. Without a previous pass, a jump to three spades with this hand would rank as a gross overbid, since it would drive partner to game with insufficient values to justify a forcing raise.

But the jump raise is correct here because the bid is not forcing after a previous pass. It merely invites partner to go on, bearing in mind the original pass. Game is unlikely unless partner has that little something extra you lack for a forcing three spade response.

2. Pass. This is an unpleasant situation, no doubt, where anything you do may prove right or wrong, but by far the best and safest action is to pass. Judging from the opponents' silence, partner has a very good hand. But the danger of responding in order to protect his hand is that any bid you make is liable to land you into the upper regions and make an already bad situation worse.

It is certainly normal to feel that there is probably a better contract than one spade, but it is too dangerous to try to find it. The bidding could all too easily slip out of control and you might wind up right in the middle of a disaster.

3. Three notrump. You should not run the risk of stopping under game — for example, by responding with only two notrump. The hand is ideal for notrump, with strength in all suits and ideal notrump distribution.

It can well be argued that the hand should not have been passed originally, but this merely lends force to the argument for jumping to three notrump as compensation for the previous underbid. Even opposite a minimum fourth hand bid — the sort of hand with which partner would pass a two notrump response — you should still want to be in game with 13 high-card points.

4. Four spades. Here, also you should not be willing to settle for less than game. It is true that you have only 9 points in high cards, but, counting the distributional factors and the excellent trump support, your hand must be regarded as the equivalent of a full opening bid. You apply the principle that two opening bids add up to game.

Ann Landers

Boy's Face Smooth As Baby's Backside

Dear Ann Landers: I just read the letter from "Hirsute Hilda," the secretary who had to shave every day. It makes me sick that life is so unfair. I am a 23-year-old boy and I have lots of hair on my chest and arms and legs, but my face is as smooth as a baby's backside. I shave twice a week, even though I don't need to. The doctor says there is nothing wrong with me — that these things happen now and then, and nothing can be done about it.

When I go to a movie for adults only, I carry my I.D. card. I also wear a sport shirt and leave the collar open so the cashier can see the hair on my chest.

Is there anything I can do to get the hair on my face to grow? Thanks. — Harry (An other embarrassment. This is my real name.)

Dear Harry: The doctor gave you straight goods. Accept it. If it's any comfort to you, please know that millions of men consider shaving a nuisance and would like to trade your problem for theirs.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 17, married 15 months, and have a baby. My husband is 19. Bill has changed into a different person this past year. I can't believe it.

He is so jealous I feel like I'm in jail. If someone calls on the phone and it's a wrong number he says it was another guy. Last night he spent an hour looking for tire marks in the driveway. He worked late and was sure someone was here.

Tonight he went through my album and tore up all the pictures of my high school friends. I phoned Dad and asked him to come and get me and the baby. This marriage is lousy and I see no hope for the future. Please tell me where I can get a free lawyer. I want a divorce so I can start over. — Messed Up Girl

Dear Girl: Start what over? Another mess? Here you are, 17 years of age, and already looking for a divorce. It won't solve your problem, Toots. It will only free you to make another lousy marriage.

You need time to grow up and so does that active volcano who calls himself a husband. Stay apart a few weeks and then get some counseling.

Dear Ann Landers: Several of us girls gave a lovely engagement shower for a co-worker. Ramona told us that her fiancé's wife had agreed to a nice quiet divorce and the wedding would come off in the fall. The shower was held at my home and the gifts were beautiful.

Last week Ramona announced, with a good deal of embarrassment, that the man's wife has a heart condition and he cannot leave her. The wedding is off. She didn't say one word about returning the gifts. Later I asked her what she intended to do with all those lovely presents. She replied "I'll keep them. They will come in handy when I meet someone wonderful."

Is this fair? We are — Burning on Michigan Avenue.

Dear Mich: Bear out the flames and forget it. You dum-dums gave a shower for a girl and a married man.

Irish Violence

Any American who has not spent some time in Northern Ireland finds it hard to believe that religious prejudice runs so deep there that it incites violent rioting. No doubt, the citizens of Northern Ireland find racial prejudice in the United States equally incomprehensible. Actually there are some interesting parallels between the two situations.

In Belfast, the capital of Ulster (the six northern counties that comprise Northern Ireland), Protestants and Catholics actually live in separate sections of the city, just as whites and blacks live in segregated areas in American cities.

The Belfast Telegram publishes want ads which clearly state that "Catholics need not apply" or "Protestants need not apply," flat admissions to job discrimination. The Protestant majority has systematically denied the Catholic minority its civil rights, just as the white majority has done to the black majority in this country.

One of the most effective means of suppression of the Catholics is by disfranchising them. This is accomplished through a system that restricts the right to vote in local elections to property owners and their wives. Since Protestants are more likely to own property than the poorer Catholics in Ulster, Protestants are able to maintain political supremacy even in towns where the Catholic population is in the majority. Catholics want the one-man, one-vote principle established in order to abolish the unfair advantage held by the Protestants.

Catholics also are discriminated against in job opportunities and housing in Northern Ireland.

Just as the Negro has turned to rioting as an expression of his discontent, frustration and unequal treatment, so the Catholics in Northern Ireland have turned to the streets, where their protests have become steadily more shrill and destructive. Belfast last weekend experienced its worst violence since before World War II as scores of persons were injured in rioting over religious differences. The situation grew worse this week at Londonderry, where rioting has been virtually uncontrollable since Tuesday when a Protestant parade touched off more violence.

Northern Ireland is a beautiful country, washed so often by rain that it easily lives up to its Emerald Isle sobriquet. Its 5,451 square miles amount to only about a third of the land area of the Upper Peninsula (16,437 square miles), but it has about five times as many people as the Northern Peninsula — 1,500,000, compared to the 300,000 living here.

Two out of three of Ulster's 1,500,000 citizens are Protestant. This is quite the reverse of the population mix in the Republic of Ireland to the South, where more than 90 per cent of the people are Catholic. The two areas have been separated politically since 1920 when Ireland was partitioned by the British Parliament.

The partitioning is at the root of the religious strife in Ulster. The Irish Protestants fear that if the Catholics ever attain sufficient political power, they will attempt to engineer a reunion of Ulster with the Republic of Ireland. In that event, the Protestant majority would become a minority ruled by Catholics.

Historically, the separation between Protestant Orange and Catholic Green is too sharp to permit real blending, but somehow the two must learn to live in peace together in Northern Ireland, just as black and white must learn to live together in the United States.

The only alternative in either case is civil war.

The Family Lawyer

Prefabricated Will
 Whether you are aware of it or not, a "will" has already been prepared for you. Known as the "statute of descent and distribution," it is a plan drawn up by your state legislature, to be used after your death in case you fail to make a will of your own.

How does this prefabricated will divide up your estate? Generally speaking, it follows a kind of law of averages, dividing things up the way an average person probably would.

In theory, that makes sense. But in practice, the use of cut-and-dried rules can have some startling consequences. For example:
 In one case, a youth who murdered his father was held entitled to his estate. Under the state statute (since changed), a son's rights were automatic — no one having thought about the possibility of murder.

In another case, a woman was awarded her husband's estate even though she was living in adultery at the time of his death. To outraged objections by his relatives, the court replied:
 "It is unnecessary to discuss wisdom or morality. It is sufficient that the legislature has declared the rules by which the rights of the parties must be determined."

True, these are extreme cases. But the prefabricated will also works out badly in many everyday circumstances. Take the situation when a man dies, leaving small children and only a modest estate.

In most states, if he has not made a will of his own, only part of his estate would go to the widow — the balance going directly to the children. For the widow, this could mean years of going through court procedures, for permission to spend the children's money on the ordinary expenses of life.

The trouble is not that the lawmakers, in drawing up the prefabricated will, don't try to be fair. Rather, the trouble is that they cannot possibly foresee the particular needs of each individual family.

They cannot know, for instance, that one of your children needs more protection than the others, or that you would like to make a grateful bequest to an old friend, or that you want to lend your support to a favorite charity.

No prefabricated will can possibly take account of such things. In fact, nobody can but you.

LAGGING BEHIND

High Water Damage Mounts Along Lakes

By A. F. MAHAN
 DETROIT — (AP) — With damages mounting and levels near or surpassing high-water records for this past year the Great Lakes are expected to wreak more havoc along their 10,000 miles of shoreline in 1970.

Waves eating away embankments, particularly the high bluffs along eastern shores of lower Lake Michigan, are threatening to topple scores of homes and vacation cottages, whose front or back yards already have vanished.

Once high and dry private docks now are awash, susceptible to being carried away in storms. Where sandy beaches once stretched outward there now is water. Nearby low-lying areas above water level now are marshes.

Some cruiser owners have found themselves unable to get their pleasure craft out of boat-houses — rising water having shortened door-top clearance too much. Still others have found themselves cut off from the lakes, unable to get under canal bridges because higher water gave them no clearance.

Dumped Autos
 Among those disturbed as waves eat their land is Carl Kuyat of St. Joseph, Mich., who says he's stopped the encroachment at least temporarily by dumping old automobiles over the cliff.

Charging him with pollution, the State Department of Natural Resources ordered Kuyat to halt his do-it-yourself project last February.

Mrs. Kuyat says "we've got it stopped," but estimated that before they did the lake had claimed between 30 and 50 feet of their backyard.

No figures are available for 1969 damages, but the Lakes Survey District of the Army's Corps of Engineers estimated somewhat similar high waters did $61.2 million damages in the springs of 1951 and 1952.

And the three lakes over which man has virtually no control — Michigan, Huron and Erie — are expected to start their annual spring rises next year at levels considerably higher than they did this year.

High Precipitation
 Experts attribute the high waters to above normal precipitation in all of the five lake basins this year and last.

John Hanna, public information officer for the Lakes Survey District, explains what's happening thus: "Suppose you turned on the bathtub spigots full blast and pulled the plug — the water would keep rising. The outlet just can't handle all of it."

Speaking before the Great Lakes Commission, made up of representatives from the eight states bordering the lakes, Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley of Michigan said last month that "today's damages could be much higher (than those of 1951-52) because of increased development along the shorelines."

Pointing to serious problems occasioned by low water in the early 1960s, Kelley said that "methods must be found to keep our lake levels within reasonable bounds."

Lake Erie's average July level was the highest for any July since the Lakes Survey District began keeping tabs on the inland seas back in 1860. It was only two and three-quarters inches below the all-time one-month record set in May, 1952.

Foot Above
 Michigan, Huron and Superior were less than an inch and a half below their highest levels for this century last Friday.

Both Michigan and Huron, joined by the Straits of Mackinac, are expected to start next spring's rise at least a foot above the level prevailing at their upturn last March.

While the lakes rise every spring and fall every winter, the Corps of Engineers says eras of high water and low water follow no fixed cycle. Records confirm this.

Precipitation — in snow or rain — and how much of it gets into the lakes are the controlling factors.

In the first six months of this year, the Lake Superior basin received 16.67 inches, against an average of 16.06 inches. In Michigan's basin it measured 21.33 this year, against an average of 17.72.

The 1969 precipitation against the average for Huron was 19.51-17.56; Erie 23.17-19.57; Ontario, 19.71-19.63.

An inch of rainfall distributed evenly over an acre of ground is the equivalent to about 27,205 gallons, according to hydrologists of the U. S. Geological Survey.

It takes 640 acres to make a square mile, and Lake Superior's basin stretches over 80,000 square miles. So just one inch of rainfall over it amounts to approximately 1.4 quadrillion gallons — and it got 16.67 inches in this year's first half.

But not all of it went into the lake.

Where Does It Go?
 Many things figure into just how much did: Whether the rainfall was on frozen ground and ran off quickly; whether it fell on dry or already wet ground; whether it was in the fall or spring when trees, plants and other vegetation were absorbing large amounts; whether the weather was hot and evaporation high; whether lake-feeding streams were high or low, etc.

The Great Lakes are tremendous bodies of water. If the contiguous 48 states were level, had a rim around them and all the water in the Great Lakes were dumped out it would form a lake nine feet deep from the Atlantic to Pacific and Gulf to Canada, according to Lakes Survey engineers.

High water is not unwelcome by all who use the lakes. It means money to ship operators. For each inch of water above the so-called low-water datum line (or guaranteed channel depth) a freighter can take on an additional 100 tons of cargo.

As of last Friday, the lakes ranged up to 47 inches above the low-water datum line, and all were above both their average levels for the last 10 years and for the 1860-1968 period.

Build Seawall
 And the Lakes Survey forecasts all except Ontario will exceed their 10-year and long-term average levels for the next six months. Ontario is expected to dip below in December but turn upward in January.

The Michigan Highway Department has announced plans to build a 3,900-foot seawall at a cost of $1 million to protect a section of the Interstate 94 business route through St. Joseph.

Cliff Johnson, a Michigan conservation officer, reports that a man who was interested in buying lakefront property on the Canadian side of Lake St. Clair was told a temporary shutdown of the flow across the American side at Niagara Falls was responsible for the high water.

But Johnson and Lake Survey experts agree this has had absolutely nothing to do with lake levels.

Contract Bridge

By B. JAY BECKER

You are South, both sides vulnerable. The bidding has been:

| East | South | West | North |
|------|-------|------|-------|
| Pass | Pass  | Pass | 1♠    |
| Pass | ?     |      |       |

What would you bid now with each of the following four hands?

- ♠AQJ93 ♥K82 ♦A986 ♣74
- ♠— ♥J74 ♦J9853 ♣J9872
- ♠Q6 ♥QJ52 ♦AJ73 ♣K96
- ♠KJ82 ♥95 ♦10 ♣AJ9843

1. Three spades. The responses to partner's opening bid frequently take on a different meaning after a player has passed originally. Without a previous pass, a jump to three spades with this hand would rank as a gross overbid, since it would drive partner to game with insufficient values to justify a forcing raise.

But the jump raise is correct here because the bid is not forcing after a previous pass. It merely invites partner to go on, bearing in mind the original pass. Game is unlikely unless partner has that little something extra you lack for a forcing three spade response.

2. Pass. This is an unpleasant situation, no doubt, where anything you do may prove right or wrong, but by far the best and safest action is to pass. Judging from the opponents' silence, partner has a very good hand. But the danger of responding in order to protect his hand is that any bid you make is liable to land you into the upper regions and make an already bad situation worse.

It is certainly normal to feel that there is probably a better contract than one spade, but it is too dangerous to try to find it. The bidding could all too easily slip out of control and you might wind up right in the middle of a disaster.

3. Three notrump. You should not run the risk of stopping under game — for example, by responding with only two notrump. The hand is ideal for notrump, with strength in all suits and ideal notrump distribution.

It can well be argued that the hand should not have been passed originally, but this merely lends force to the argument for jumping to three notrump as compensation for the previous underbid. Even opposite a minimum fourth hand bid — the sort of hand with which partner would pass a two notrump response — you should still want to be in game with 13 high-card points.

4. Four spades. Here, also you should not be willing to settle for less than game. It is true that you have only 9 points in high cards, but, counting the distributional factors and the excellent trump support, your hand must be regarded as the equivalent of a full opening bid. You apply the principle that two opening bids add up to game.

Ann Landers

Boy's Face Smooth As Baby's Backside

Dear Ann Landers: I just read the letter from "Hirsute Hilda," the secretary who had to shave every day. It makes me sick that life is so unfair. I am a 23-year-old boy and I have lots of hair on my chest and arms and legs, but my face is as smooth as a baby's backside. I shave twice a week, even though I don't need to. The doctor says there is nothing wrong with me — that these things happen now and then, and nothing can be done about it.

When I go to a movie for adults only, I carry my I.D. card. I also wear a sport shirt and leave the collar open so the cashier can see the hair on my chest.

Is there anything I can do to get the hair on my face to grow? Thanks. — Harry (An other embarrassment. This is my real name.)

Dear Harry: The doctor gave you straight goods. Accept it. If it's any comfort to you, please know that millions of men consider shaving a nuisance and would like to trade your problem for theirs.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 17, married 15 months, and have a baby. My husband is 19, Bill has changed into a different person this past year. I can't believe it.

He is so jealous I feel like I'm in jail. If someone calls on the phone and it's a wrong number he says it was another guy. Last night he spent an hour looking for tire marks in the driveway. He worked late and was sure someone was here.

Tonight he went through my album and tore up all the pictures of my high school friends. I phoned Dad and asked him to come and get me and the baby. This marriage is lousy and I see no hope for the future. Please tell me where I can get a free lawyer. I want a divorce so I can start over. — Messed Up Girl

Dear Girl: Start what over? Another mess? Here you are, 17 years of age, and already looking for a divorce. It won't solve your problem, Toots. It will only free you to make another lousy marriage.

You need time to grow up and so does that active volcano who calls himself a husband. Stay apart a few weeks and then get some counseling.

Dear Ann Landers: Several of us girls gave a lovely engagement shower for a co-worker. Ramona told us that her fiancé's wife had agreed to a nice quiet divorce and the wedding would come off in the fall. The shower was held at my home and the gifts were beautiful.

Last week Ramona announced, with a good deal of embarrassment, that the man's wife has a heart condition and he cannot leave her. The wedding is off. She didn't say one word about returning the gifts. Later I asked her what she intended to do with all those lovely presents. She replied "I'll keep them. They will come in handy when I meet someone wonderful."

Is this fair? We are — Burning on Michigan Avenue.

Dear Mich: Beat out the flames and forget it. You dum-dum-dum gave a shower for a girl and a married man.

New Vision Standards May Restrict Driving

LANSING (AP) — Motorists with impaired eyesight are liable to be subject to driving restrictions under new vision standards adopted by the secretary of state.

To obtain an unrestricted driver's license under the new program, drivers must possess 20-40 minimum corrected vision and a peripheral field of view greater than 110 degrees, said Dr. Roger Kuhlman of Grand Ledge, former chairman of the Michigan Optometric Association's Motorists Vision Committee.

"Less than one half of one per cent will be taken off the road because of the higher standards," said Kuhlman.

Telebinoculars

One half of one per cent would be about 25,000 motorists. The newly established standards are the result of five years work by the Michigan Optometric Association, added Kuhlman.

To enforce the standards adopted this month, the secretary of state's office has purchased telebinoculars to test a person's eyesight instead of using the old familiar Snellen chart with varied sizes of type normally seen hanging on license branch walls.

In addition to measuring a person's peripheral vision — a new requirement — the machine also is expected to eliminate cheating.

"People would memorize the Snellen chart," Kuhlman said. "They'd pass it from memory rather than what they could see."

"There is no possible chance of memorization with the telebinocular," he said.

Kuhlman said he expects the new machine to point out visual deficiencies in an estimated one million drivers, deficiencies that he says can be corrected. All driver's license examining stations are expected to be equipped with the new machines by Friday.

Crime Risk Doubles Since '60

WASHINGTON (AP) — Each American's risk of becoming a victim of serious crime has nearly doubled since 1960, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover reported today.

Hoover listed the statistic, showing more than one out of every 50 Americans was victimized by crime last year, in his 1968 Uniform Crime Reports compiled from records of the nation's law enforcement agencies.

Declaring "there is no comfort in the cold statistics," Hoover said almost 4.5 million serious crimes were reported in 1968—a 17 per cent increase over 1967.

Western White House To Be 'Light, Airy'

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — Pat Nixon showed off the re-decorated Spanish-style ocean-front Western White House and told how she tried to keep expenses down and make the place "light and airy."

"I try not to be extravagant," the President's wife said Thursday as she took reporters on a tour of the $340,000, 14-room, five-bath Nixon home set amid cypress, palm and eucalyptus trees.

Fresh, New
She said she tried to make use of French provincial furniture the Nixons had in their New York apartment, painting things "to make them fresh and new."

From the six-hole golf course and blue-tiled, scalloped swimming pool to the President's red-and-white bedroom with a Vietnam painting over the bed, Mrs. Nixon said, "I love it."

With a minimum of time on the project—"We did it all in one day"—Mrs. Nixon put to work Los Angeles interior decorators Cannel and Chaffin to create a predominantly yellow-and-white color scheme with accents of royal blue.

White Shutters
The major improvement, Mrs. Nixon said, was making the place "light and airy" by painting the heavy wooden ceiling beams white, replacing venetian blinds with white shutters and cutting back shrubbery to enhance the Pacific ocean view.

The yellow living room looks out on yellow marigolds in the garden and has three high arched windows for a view of the sea.

Every room has a white telephone and Nixon's has red ones, too.

Music System
A closet in a downstairs hallway houses the Nixon's music system. Mrs. Nixon tried to put on a record to demonstrate, but confessed, "I haven't been here long enough to learn how to use the machine."

There have been reports that neighbors in the Cyprus Shores community are upset over the security restrictions the Nixons have imposed on them. But Mrs. Nixon said all the neighbors have written her nice notes inviting her to tea. And she plans to have them in for a visit.

Second Floor
The President's study is the only second-floor room in the sprawling white stucco, red-tiled house. The house surrounds a courtyard with a fountain.

In their redecorating, the Nixons even fitted the Secret Service into the Spanish-styled decor. The agents occupy matching white stucco, red-tiled roofed gazebos with tinted glass windows.

Events
Women of the Moose
There will be a special meeting of the Women of the Moose Monday at 8 p.m. at the clubrooms. This meeting is of great importance due to the change in initiation and installation suggested by the Moose Heart. For more information call Mary Graham, 786-5880. The men will also meet at this time.

reasons why Maverick is the fastest-selling new car in automotive history!

Our little car is making a big hit. In its first 100 days Maverick has outsold every new car ever introduced. And every day more and more smart drivers are discovering the fun of owning the simple machine. Take a few minutes to find out why Maverick's so popular. Then take a test drive at your Ford Dealer's.

New Ford Maverick... the simple machine

- 1. LOW PRICE. Maverick is the best seller of the '70s at 1969 prices. And you get your money's worth. A complete car all ready to drive home.
- 2. LOW FUEL BILLS. In tests by professional drivers at our tracks, where we do our best to duplicate actual driving conditions, Maverick averaged 22.5 mpg. (Some Maverick owners report they get 25 mpg and better.)
- 3. 105 HORSES. Maverick's high-spirited Six gives you nearly twice as much horsepower as the leading import's engine. You get fast acceleration, easy passing.
- 4. PEOPLE-SIZED INTERIOR. Maverick pinches pennies, not people. Its front seat gives you nine inches more shoulder room than the leading import. Plus lots of leg room, hip room and head room.
- 5. EASY HANDLING. Maverick can outmaneuver the leading economy import. It can U-turn in a tighter circle, nip around corners and slide into tight parking spaces with amazing agility.
- 6. FEWER SERVICE CALLS. Maverick is actually easier and less expensive to maintain than an economy import. Maverick oil changes come only once every 6,000 miles and chassis lubrications once in 36,000 miles. The leading import recommends an oil change twice as often and a chassis lubrication six times as often. (Maverick gives you economy without inconvenience!)
- 7. SIMPLE SERVICE AND REPAIRS. The Maverick Owner's Manual has 24 pages of instructions for routine maintenance jobs you can do yourself, if you wish. You can change spark plugs, replace fuel filter, adjust ignition timing, and more. Even a smashed grille can be replaced in as little as 13 minutes.
- 8. WIDE-OPEN TRUNK SPACE. No more cramming in luggage just because you have a small car. Maverick gives you 10.4 cubic feet of luggage space—nearly twice as much as the leading import. (With Maverick, you can take it with you.)
- 9. SOLID DURABILITY. Maverick's unitized body construction makes it light, strong and durable. (And Maverick's 3-speed transmission is tough enough to handle twice as much horsepower as the engine turns out.) (Maverick may be little, but you don't have to treat it like a kid.)
- 10. BUILT-IN SAFETY. Unlike most economy imports, Maverick's tread is wider than the car is high. That means stability—mightily important when the road is wet or the wind is strong.

Western White House To Be 'Light, Airy'

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — Pat Nixon showed off the redecorated Spanish-style ocean-front Western White House and told how she tried to keep expenses down and make the place "light and airy."

"I try not to be extravagant," the President's wife said Thursday as she took reporters on a tour of the $340,000, 14-room, five-bath Nixon home set amid cypress, palm and eucalyptus trees.

Fresh, New

She said she tried to make use of French provincial furniture the Nixons had in their New York apartment, painting things "to make them fresh and new."

From the six-hole golf course and blue-tiled, scallop-edged swimming pool to the President's red-and-white bedroom with a Vietnam painting over the bed, Mrs. Nixon said, "I love it."

White Shutters

The major improvement, Mrs. Nixon said, was making the place "light and airy" by painting the heavy wooden ceiling beams white, replacing venetian blinds with white shutters and cutting back shrubbery to enhance the Pacific ocean view.

The yellow living room looks out on yellow marigolds in the garden and has three high arched windows for a view of the sea.

Every room has a white telephone and Nixon's has red ones, too.

Music System

A closet in a downstairs hallway houses the Nixon music system. Mrs. Nixon tried to put on a record to demonstrate, but confessed, "I haven't been here long enough to learn how to use the machine."

There have been reports that neighbors in the Cyprus Shores community are upset over the security restrictions the Nixons have imposed on them. But Mrs. Nixon said all the neighbors have written her nice notes inviting her to tea. And she plans to have them in for a visit.

Second Floor

The President's study is the only second-floor room in the sprawling white stucco, red-tiled house. The house surrounds a courtyard with a fountain.

In their redecorating, the Nixons even fitted the Secret Service into the Spanish-styled decor. The agents occupy matching white stucco, red-tile roofed gazebos with tinted glass windows.

Crochet, Knit Articles Popular Exhibit Items

By JANET MARTIN

Crocheted and knitted items including afghans, women's and children's clothing were the most popular exhibits in the Needlework Department at the Upper Peninsula State Fair this year, according to Betty Bruce of Bark River, superintendent of the department.

Many Quilts

Some of the outstanding articles in the crochet and knit department included: a lovely lined deep blue knit coat made by Marie Eugate of Escanaba; a crocheted bedspread in shades of blue, made by Mrs. Joseph Mattard of Carney; a woven red and blue afghan, very unusual, which was made by Mrs. Emil Laukkonen of Crystal Falls. All of the above received blue ribbon awards for their entries.

There was also a great number of quilts entered this year, all sizes, types and varieties.

Mrs. William Johnson of Rte. 1 Gladstone entered an attractive multi-colored patchwork quilt, which received a blue ribbon and another unusual quilt was entered by Mrs. C. E. Larson of Wells.

This is a patchwork quilt and each of the squares are filled with old nylons, which makes the quilt very light and airy.

Teenage Sewing

There were also many entries in the machine sewing department this year and teenage sewing was also very popular.

Some of the large exhibitors in this under 19 years of age category included: Bette Lu Krause of Bark River, Shirley Lippens of Cornell and Barbara Ablett of Escanaba.

In the machine sewing department, Mrs. W. Pajanich of Rapid River received a first premium award for her lovely white organdy child's dress.

Study Program

Mrs. Albert Weldum of Rock and her daughter, Nancy had many entries in the machine sewing department and received many blue ribbons for their efforts. Nancy was unable to attend the Fair this year as she is spending the summer in Spain under a study program.

Mrs. Ann Pierson, 77, of 1112 Sheridan Road, is also an outstanding exhibitor at the Fair, and has been so for many years. She has many items entered in both the needlework and foods departments.

Judging in the needlework department was completed on Tuesday and was done by Mrs. Ray Phillips of Gladstone.

Maverick is the fastest-selling new car in automotive history!

Our little car is making a big hit. In its first 100 days Maverick has outsold every new car ever introduced. And every day more and more smart drivers are discovering the fun of owning the simple machine. Take a few minutes to find out why Maverick's so popular. Then take a test drive at your Ford Dealer's.

New Ford Maverick... the simple machine

- 1. LOW PRICE. Maverick is the best seller of the '70s at 1960 prices. And you get your money's worth. A complete car all ready to drive home.
- 2. LOW FUEL BILLS. In tests by professional drivers at our tracks, where we do our best to duplicate actual driving conditions, Maverick averaged 22.5 mpg. (Some Maverick owners report they get 25 mpg and better.)
- 3. 105 HORSES. Maverick's high-spirited Six gives you nearly twice as much horsepower as the leading import's engine. You get fast acceleration, easy passing.
- 4. PEOPLE-SIZED INTERIOR. Maverick pinches pennies, not people. Its front seat gives you nine inches more shoulder room than the leading import. Plus lots of leg room, hip room and head room.
- 5. EASY HANDLING. Maverick can outmaneuver the leading economy import. It can U-turn in a tighter circle, nip around corners and slide into tight parking spaces with amazing agility.
- 6. FEWER SERVICE CALLS. Maverick is actually easier and less expensive to maintain than an economy import. Maverick oil changes come only once every 6,000 miles and chassis lubrications once in 36,000 miles. The leading import recommends an oil change twice as often and a chassis lubrication six times as often. (Maverick gives you economy without inconvenience!)
- 7. SIMPLE SERVICE AND REPAIRS. The Maverick Owner's Manual has 24 pages of instructions for routine maintenance jobs you can do yourself, if you wish. You can change spark plugs, replace fuel filter, adjust ignition timing, and more. Even a smashed grille can be replaced in as little as 13 minutes.
- 8. WIDE-OPEN TRUNK SPACE. No more cramming in luggage just because you have a small car. Maverick gives you 10.4 cubic feet of luggage space—nearly twice as much as the leading import. (With Maverick, you can take it with you.)
- 9. SOLID DURABILITY. Maverick's unitized body construction makes it light, strong and durable. (And Maverick's 3-speed transmission is tough enough to handle twice as much horsepower as the engine turns out.) (Maverick may be little, but you don't have to treat it like a kid.)
- 10. BUILT-IN SAFETY. Unlike most economy imports, Maverick's tread is wider than the car is high. That means stability—mighty important when the road is wet or the wind is strong.

Private Firms Seek To Teach Disadvantaged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seventeen private companies are expected to seek a chance to prove they can teach disadvantaged children with more measurable results than now shown through the schools—with no payment if they fail.

Bids are due Monday from the companies, including large educational technology firms, on the first test of a possible Nixon administration alternative to the current system of educational assistance.

The initial project calls for raising the reading and mathematics levels of about 200 potential dropouts from the Texarkana, Ark., junior and senior high schools. This is backed by a $270,000 federal grant.

The winning bidder will sign a performance contract that calls for payment only if skills are increased a specified amount within a certain time. Each youngster will get before-and-after standard tests. The contractor is paid for his successes but gets nothing for his failures.

He must also prove gains last for at least six months after the special training ends. This is intended to curb teaching techniques aimed only at test scores and not at lasting benefits.

Office of Education officials see the business approach as a possible substitute for many of the in-school enrichment programs financed by the $1.3 billion annual federal grant program for poor and disadvantaged children.

"The program hasn't quite been a disaster," says one high ranking official. "But it's close. We've got to try something else."

Federal money is now going for books, equipment, additional teachers and uplift activities, officials say, but no one really knows what's being accomplished.

The additional hearings would bring to nine the total sessions devoted to the controversial topic. Many of the sessions have been stormy. Officials estimated some 1,136 persons have attended previous sessions lasting a total of 29½ hours.

Hearings Cover Sex Guidelines

LANSING (AP) — The State Board of Education has scheduled three more public hearings on proposed guidelines for sex education in Michigan elementary and secondary schools.

Hearings are to be held Aug. 21 in Warren, Sept. 4 in Kalamazoo and Sept. 18 at Dearborn. The Kalamazoo date replaces one previously scheduled for Southfield.

Four sets of guidelines would be available for public discussion before the board makes a final recommendation.

Included are an original, citizens committee proposal; a second by Mrs. Suzanne Tak, Schwartz Creek; a third by board member James F. O'Neil, a Livonia Republican; and a fourth by board member Dr. Leroy Augenstein.

Share Loan For Police Education

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) — Twenty-five Michigan colleges and universities will share $259,000 in federal funds under a program to encourage law enforcement personnel to pursue college education. It was announced today.

The Law Enforcement Education Program is intended to further professionalized police officers, correction officers and other people employed in criminal justice.

The program also encourages students to go into police work by offering loans up to $1800 a year and tuition grants of $200 to $300 a year.

The grants to the schools range from $800 for Montclair Community College in Sidney to $63,600 to Wayne State University in Detroit. Michigan State University received $60,100 and the University of Michigan got $2,200.

Memphis Couple Found Murdered

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A disabled Memphis accountant and his wife were found murdered at their fashionable Memphis apartment late Thursday evening.

Police officers on the scene said the killings resembled the weekend deaths at the home of Hollywood actress Sharon Tate. Officers declined to speculate, however, on whether the slayings were connected with those in Hollywood.

Police said the victims were Roy Kenneth Dumas, 58, and his wife, Vernalyn Kelly Dumas, 46. Memphis police and Fire Director Frank Holloman said Mrs. Dumas appeared to have been raped.

Air Guardsmen Killed In Crash

MANTON (AP)—An Air National Guardsman was killed Wednesday when his RB-57 tactical reconnaissance jet fighter crashed and burst into flames about 4½ miles northwest of Manton.

Killed was 1st Lt. Dennis M. Edgett, 27, of Battle Creek, who was stationed there with the 57th Tactical Reconnaissance Unit. He was the only person on the plane.

A witness to the crash, Wilbur Westbrook, said the plane came toward a field he was plowing and appeared to be in a "barrel roll." He said the plane hit a group of trees near the field, exploded and burst into flames.

Hijacker Longed To See Mother

MIAMI (AP) — Claiming he longed to see his mother, a red-eyed gunman with a knife-wielding companion hijacked a Northeast Airlines jet Thursday, maintaining 1969's record rate of more than one forced flight to Cuba per week.

Crew and passengers on the Boston-to-Miami flight said the two men barged into the cockpit just south of Wilmington, N.C. "Cuba! Cuba!" the pilot said the hijackers shouted, waving a pistol and knife.

The plane carried 44 passengers and a crew of eight. Forced to keep radio silence, the pilot tripped a secret signal near Jacksonville, Fla., alerting federal aviation authorities that the flight had been diverted.

Hoffa Challenges Prison Sentence

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — James R. Hoffa, jailed president of the Teamsters union, arrived in Chattanooga Thursday in the custody of U.S. marshals to again challenge his eight-year jury tampering sentence.

Hoffa, grim-faced and without his usual bouncy walk, was hustled into the Hamilton County Jail, where he and his attorneys will prepare for an Aug. 19 hearing in U.S. District Court.

The hearing was ordered by the U.S. Supreme Court, and will attempt to discern whether electronic eavesdropping of the federal government violated Hoffa's rights or tainted his 1964 conviction on jury tampering charges.

The high court has ruled the government must provide Hoffa with all wiretap transcripts involving him. The trial court must then decide if defendant's rights under the fourth amendment of the constitution were violated by the eavesdropping.

The Justice Department admits it listened in on conversations involving Hoffa and co-defendant Larry Campbell during the union leader's 1964 trial. But the department denies the information was used to prosecute Hoffa or to contribute to his conviction.

Attorneys for Hoffa dispute the Justice Department's claim, contending federal officials have not in fact made available all the tapes and transcripts involving the teamster boss.

At a pre-hearing conference Thursday, Hoffa's lawyers demanded that the department turn over to them a Federal Bureau of Investigation file allegedly code-named "the June file" which the attorneys said contained records of all conversations recorded against Hoffa.

Justice Department spokesmen have labeled the defense attorneys' contentions "a gigantic fishing expedition."

Presiding over the case is Judge Frank W. Wilson, who also presided at Hoffa's 1964 conviction. Wilson has ruled that the Justice Department must be prepared to prove that it has turned over all relevant transcripts to Hoffa.

The department says it will, in cooperation with the Federal Bureau of Public Roads, begin a five-day origin-destination study of highway traffic near Mount Pleasant.

Motorists on M 20 east of Mount Pleasant and U.S. 27 south of the city will be stopped briefly at interview stations to answer questions on the origin and purpose of their trips, destination and place of residence.

The procedure takes only 30 seconds, the department says. Information such as state or county designations on license plates and number of occupants is noted before the car stops rolling.

Lake Barriers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Charles A. Mosher, R-Ohio, proposed Thursday legislation to authorize federal construction of barriers to protect private property from shoreline erosion along the Great Lakes. Such authorization exists now only for protection of public property.

Expect 'High Point' In Vietnam Attacks

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. military spokesmen said today they anticipate Viet Cong and North Vietnamese attacks will continue at their present level of 20 to 40 a night, then shoot up to another "high point" before Sept. 2.

U.S. headquarters reported 41 enemy rocket and mortar attacks and eight ground fights from 8 a.m. Thursday to 8 a.m. today, with 78 of the enemy killed in the ground action. U.S. casualties were 11 killed and 88 wounded, the command said, while South Vietnamese casualties were described as "light."

More than 150 allied bases and towns were hit with rocket, mortar and ground attacks early Tuesday in what the U.S. Command considers the first "high point" of the Communist command's fall campaign.

Since then, the attacks have dropped off gradually to between 20 and 40 a night, a U.S. spokesman said and they are expected to remain at that level for awhile.

U.S. analysts expect the next "high point" slightly in advance of Sept. 2 because that is the 24th anniversary of Ho Chi Minh's proclamation of the independence of Vietnam.

The Viet Cong said today it had launched "a new and extremely hard-hitting offensive of punishment" and promised that it would continue on an intermittent "lightning strike" basis.

The Viet Cong's Liberation Radio said the new offensive was designed to "show our iron will that the longer the Americans prolong their war of aggression the more they will bleed and die."

The broadcast claimed "massive victories" earlier this week in "our new offensive of simultaneous lightning attacks" and said Viet Cong forces "will unflinchingly go forward with similar simultaneous lightning attack and will develop to the fullest enlarged guerrilla warfare."

U.S. spokesmen said the heaviest ground fighting continued to be along the Cambodian border north of Saigon. U.S. intelligence officers estimate there are 3,000 to 5,000 North Vietnamese troops in the area and say they are trying to seize control at least temporarily of a provincial capital in the area—Tay Ninh, An Loc or Song Be—to score a propaganda victory.

The Viet Cong's Liberation Radio said the new offensive was designed to "show our iron will that the longer the Americans prolong their war of aggression the more they will bleed and die."

The broadcast claimed "massive victories" earlier this week in "our new offensive of simultaneous lightning attacks" and said Viet Cong forces "will unflinchingly go forward with similar simultaneous lightning attack and will develop to the fullest enlarged guerrilla warfare."

U.S. spokesmen said the heaviest ground fighting continued to be along the Cambodian border north of Saigon. U.S. intelligence officers estimate there are 3,000 to 5,000 North Vietnamese troops in the area and say they are trying to seize control at least temporarily of a provincial capital in the area—Tay Ninh, An Loc or Song Be—to score a propaganda victory.

Since then, the attacks have dropped off gradually to between 20 and 40 a night, a U.S. spokesman said and they are expected to remain at that level for awhile.

U.S. analysts expect the next "high point" slightly in advance of Sept. 2 because that is the 24th anniversary of Ho Chi Minh's proclamation of the independence of Vietnam.

The Viet Cong said today it had launched "a new and extremely hard-hitting offensive of punishment" and promised that it would continue on an intermittent "lightning strike" basis.

Private Firms Seek To Teach Disadvantaged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seventeen private companies are expected to seek a chance to prove they can teach disadvantaged children with more measurable results than now shown through the schools—with no payment if they fail.

Bids are due Monday from the companies, including large educational technology firms, on the first test of a possible Nixon administration alternative to the current system of educational assistance.

The initial project calls for raising the reading and mathematics levels of about 200 potential dropouts from the Texarkana, Ark., junior and senior high schools. This is backed by a $270,000 federal grant.

The winning bidder will sign a performance contract that calls for payment only if skills are increased a specified amount within a certain time. Each youngster will get before-and-after standard tests. The contractor is paid for his successes but gets nothing for his failures.

He must also prove gains last for at least six months after the special training ends. This is intended to curb teaching techniques aimed only at test scores and not at lasting benefits.

Office of Education officials see the business approach as a possible substitute for many of the in-school enrichment programs financed by the $1.3 billion annual federal grant program for poor and disadvantaged children.

"The program hasn't quite been a disaster," says one high-ranking official. "But it's close. We've got to try something else."

Federal money is now going for books, equipment, additional teachers and uplift activities, officials say, but no one really knows what's being accomplished.

"But I think it is of importance that the new Commerce Department director focus immediately on the particular problems of the Upper Peninsula."

"An accelerated effort by state government to stimulate the economy of the Upper Peninsula is in the interest of all of Michigan," Milliken emphasized. "Highway improvement must be part of this effort."

Milliken said he is "convinced" the Upper Peninsula has a great future.

"The U. P. has the resources—minerals, timber, water and abundant energy. But above all it has the right kind of people—strong people, hard working people, law abiding people—people who want to stay here and build a better future for themselves and their children."

Students Have Credit Union

ANN ARBOR (AP) — University of Michigan students have established what may be the nation's first credit union solely for students.

The U-M Student Credit Union will offer educational, personal and auto loans, free check cashing service for members, savings accounts and credit and consumer information.

"The credit union can offer low interest rates and free check-cashing service to members because it is a non-profit organization," said Michael Senger, a third-year law student and chairman of the committee that organized the union. "The revenues which accumulate will be returned to members in annual dividends."

The group has been chartered by the State Banking Commission.

Coed's Parent Gives Gift To U-M

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kalom of Portage, Mich., parents of Alice Elizabeth Kalom, donated the money to the U-M School of Architecture and Design to honor annually a student who excels in photography, the field Miss Kalom was studying.

Found 21-year-old coed was found strangled June 11 in a deserted area north of Ann Arbor. She was the sixth victim in the series of brutal sex slayings.

U-M President Robben Fleming wrote to Mrs. Kalom after receiving the gift, saying, "That you have been able to submerge this tragedy is a tribute to you, your husband and daughter."

Another MOL astronaut, Air Force Lt. Col. Albert H. Crews, Alexandria, La., was assigned to a ground-based job in the NASA flight crew operations directorate.

Peterson is a West Point graduate who holds a master's degree in nuclear engineering from the Air Force Institute of Technology. He is married and has three children. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Peterson of Winona, Miss.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A disabled Memphis accountant and his wife were found murdered at their fashionable Memphis apartment late Thursday evening.

Police officers on the scene said the killings resembled the weekend deaths at the home of Hollywood actress Sharon Tate.

Officers declined to speculate, however, on whether the slayings were connected with those in Hollywood.

Police said the victims were Roy Kenneth Dumas, 58, and his wife, Vernalyn Kelly Dumas, 46. Memphis police and Fire Director Frank Holloman said Mrs. Dumas appeared to have been raped.

Killed was 1st Lt. Dennis M. Edgett, 27, of Battle Creek, who was stationed there with the 57th Tactical Reconnaissance Unit. He was the only person on the plane.

A witness to the crash, Wilbur Westbrook, said the plane came toward a field he was plowing and appeared to be in a "barrel roll." He said the plane hit a group of trees near the field, exploded and burst into flames.

Bobko is the first Air Force Academy graduate to be assigned to the space program. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Bobko of Seaford, N.Y. Bobko is a former jet fighter pilot. He's married and has two children.

Hoffa Challenges Prison Sentence

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — James R. Hoffa, jailed president of the Teamsters union, arrived in Chattanooga Thursday in the custody of U.S. marshals to again challenge his eight-year jury tampering sentence.

Hoffa, grim-faced and without his usual bouncy walk, was hustled into the Hamilton County Jail, where he and his attorneys will prepare for an Aug. 19 hearing in U.S. District Court.

The hearing was ordered by the U.S. Supreme Court, and will attempt to discern whether electronic eavesdropping of the federal government violated Hoffa's rights or tainted his 1964 conviction on jury tampering charges.

The high court has ruled the government must provide Hoffa with all wiretap transcripts involving him. The trial court must then decide if defendant's rights under the fourth amendment of the constitution were violated by the eavesdropping.

The Justice Department admits it listened in on conversations involving Hoffa and co-defendant Larry Campbell during the union leader's 1964 trial. But the department denies the information was used to prosecute Hoffa or to contribute to his conviction.

Attorneys for Hoffa dispute the Justice Department's claim, contending federal officials have not in fact made available all the tapes and transcripts involving the teamster boss.

At a pre-hearing conference Thursday, Hoffa's lawyers demanded that the department turn over to them a Federal Bureau of Investigation file allegedly code-named "The june file" which the attorneys said contained records of all conversations recorded against Hoffa.

Justice Department spokesmen have labeled the defense attorneys' contentions "a gigantic fishing expedition."

Presiding over the case is Judge Frank W. Wilson, who also presided at Hoffa's 1964 conviction. Wilson has ruled that the Justice Department must be prepared to prove that it has turned over all relevant transcripts to Hoffa.

'Baggies' Ad Called Deceptive

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Colgate-Palmolive Co. and its advertising agency were charged Thursday with using deceptive television commercials to advertise its cellophane wraps, "Baggies."

In a formal complaint, the Federal Trade Commission said the disputed commercials implied that Baggies are superior to other competitive wraps in keeping food fresh.

The FTC action named Colgate-Palmolive and Maisius, Wynne-Williams, Street & Finney Inc., a New York Advertising agency.

The complaint said the companies used a water demonstration into which Baggies are dipped as evidence of how Baggies are superior in keeping food fresh when stored under ordinary conditions.

Suggesting the water demonstration does not show ordinary conditions of use, the FTC said the commercials "are false, misleading and deceptive."

Expect 'High Point' In Vietnam Attacks

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. military spokesmen said today they anticipate Viet Cong and North Vietnamese attacks will continue at their present level of 20 to 40 a night, then shoot up to another "high point" before Sept. 2.

U.S. headquarters reported 41 enemy rocket and mortar attacks and eight ground fights from 8 a.m. Thursday to 8 a.m. today, with 78 of the enemy killed in the ground action. U.S. casualties were 11 killed and 88 wounded, the command said, while South Vietnamese casualties were described as "light."

More than 150 allied bases and towns were hit with rocket, mortar and ground attacks early Tuesday in what the U.S. Command considers the first "high point" of the Communist command's fall campaign.

Since then, the attacks have dropped off gradually to between 20 and 40 a night, a U.S. spokesman said and they are expected to remain at that level for awhile.

U.S. analysts expect the next "high point" slightly in advance of Sept. 2 because that is the 24th anniversary of Ho Chi Minh's proclamation of the independence of Vietnam.

The Viet Cong said today it had launched "a new and extremely hard-hitting offensive of punishment" and promised that it would continue on an intermittent "lightning strike" basis.

The Viet Cong's Liberation Radio said the new offensive was designed to "show our iron will that the longer the Americans prolong their war of aggression the more they will bleed and die."

The broadcast claimed "massive victories" earlier this week in "our new offensive of simultaneous lightning attacks" and said Viet Cong forces "will unflinchingly go forward with similar simultaneous lightning attack and will develop to the fullest enlarged guerrilla warfare."

U.S. spokesmen said the heaviest ground fighting continued to be along the Cambodian border north of Saigon. U.S. intelligence officers estimate there are 3,000 to 5,000 North Vietnamese troops in the area and say they are trying to seize control at least temporarily of a provincial capital in the area—Tay Ninh, An Loc or Song Be—to score a propaganda victory.

Taxpayers Get Tax Cutback

ITHACA (AP) — Taxpayers in this rural mid-Michigan area figuratively shook their heads in disbelief Thursday.

The Ithaca School District notified them that all of an increased school tax which they voted upon themselves last April won't be collected; that it actually will have more money than needed for the 1969-70 year.

Faced with the prospect of half-day classes, voters finally approved a tax increase from 6 mills to 8.5 mills last April—after four times previously vetoing proposed hikes.

The school board voted Wednesday night to levy only 8 of the 8.5 mills (or $8 per $1,000 of assessed property value), with its secretary prophetically telling reporters: "You've got your headlines for tomorrow."

To Ithaca cafe owner Roger Williams it was something different all right, and farmer John Gilbert was "really surprised."

Secretary Dr. Jack Humm didn't have to tell reporter Jenny Wilson from the nearby Alma Record-Leader she had headlines, "because who ever heard of a governmental unit admitting it's got enough money even if it collects all it can get—that's 'man bites dog' news."

Senators Resist Employment Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Both of Michigan's U.S. senators Thursday pledged to resist efforts to limit the Department of Labor in enforcing a controversial equal employment plan.

Democrat Philip Hart and Republican Robert P. Griffin signed along with nine other senators a letter drafted by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., urging Secretary of Labor George P. Schultz to go ahead with the "Philadelphia Plan" for insuring minority staffing of federal construction projects involving more than $500,000.

GOP Senate Minority Leader Everett Dirksen of Illinois and some other senators contend that the requirement of hiring a certain number of blacks and other minority group members violates the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

The letter pointed out that the Justice Department had approved the plan and also said questions of legality should be decided by the courts, not by the comptroller general, who has said he opposes it.

LANSING (AP) — The State Board of Education has scheduled three more public hearings on proposed guidelines for sex education in Michigan elementary and secondary schools.

Hearings are to be held Aug. 21 in Warren, Sept. 4 in Kalamazoo and Sept. 18 at Dearborn. The Kalamazoo date replaces one previously scheduled for Southfield.

Four sets of guidelines would be available for public discussion before the board makes a final recommendation.

Included are an original, citizens committee proposal; a second by Mrs. Susanne Tall, Schwartz Creek; a third by board member James F. O'Neil, a Livonia Republican, and a fourth by board member Dr. Leroy Augusten.

The additional hearings would bring to nine the total sessions devoted to the controversial topic. Many of the sessions have been stormy. Officials estimated some 1,136 persons have attended previous sessions lasting a total of 29 1/2 hours.

Share Loan For Police Education

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) — Twenty-five Michigan colleges and universities will share $259,000 in federal funds under a program to encourage law enforcement personnel to pursue college educations, it was announced today.

The Law Enforcement Education Program is intended to further professionalized police officers, correction officers and other people employed in criminal justice.

The program also encourages students to go into police work by offering loans of up to $1800 a year and tuition grants of $200 to $300 a year.

The grants to the schools range from $800 for Montcalm Community College in Sidney to $63,600 to Wayne State University in Detroit. Michigan State University received $60,100 and the University of Michigan got $2,200.

INTRIGUING ROOF STRUCTURE, round tower near the front entrance and completely asymmetrical lines are characteristic of Norman architecture, as are the unshuttered casement windows. Stucco, stone and brick are combined with pleasing effect.

S-6 STATISTICS

Design S-6 has a living room, dining room, kitchen, three bedrooms, two bathrooms and a laundry area, totaling 1637 square feet. Although a one-story house, there is a 2nd floor balcony that can be reached by ladder. An outdoor porch is set at the rear left of the house. The over-all dimensions of 77' 3" by 42' 8" include the porch and the two-car garage. The plans call for a full basement.

Tower, One-Story Feature

By ANDY LANG

The round tower, because of its dramatic size and shape, is always the predominant feature of any house in which it appears.

In the latest House of the Week, architect Rudolph A. Matern has made effective use of the round tower, usually associated with Norman architecture, the Romanesque style that first made its appearance in Normandy in the 10th century.

Here the tower nestles into the balcony of the house, creating interesting curved roof lines. Inside the sidelighted front entrance, just off the weather-protected front porch, the power of the tower is even more pronounced. The thickness of the solid stone wall is evident at the arch entering the dining room which the tower houses. The height is emphasized by the slanted beamed ceiling which reaches up to over 14' high.

The dining room is 12' across and requires a round table. It has three arched accesses to the foyer, the living room and the kitchen. An 18-foot-long ceiling chain from the cone of the tower supports a large lighting fixture in the center. An 8-foot-high ceiling is pierced by a 6-foot round opening. A rail surrounds the opening, forming a 2nd floor balcony. Access to the balcony is by a vertical ladder for the nimble-footed. The balcony can serve as a reading or study area for those who want seclusion.

The living and service areas were meant to be influenced by the tower, as a portion of its curved stone wall projects into each space. It creates an interesting segment of the decoration. The living room, with a fireplace set into the rear wall, has an opening to a private porch that can be used for relaxing or outdoor dining. The fireplace can be seen from the front foyer, creating an excellent first-impression view for guests.

Spacious and efficient, the kitchen has a built-in planning desk at one end. A bay window with a counter-high planter dominates the other end in front of the double sink. Access to the rear porch is through a small laundry area, permitting easy outdoor food service.

Three bedrooms at the right side of the house are serviced by two baths. One can be used as a private master bath and also as a guest power room, since it has a separate entrance from the bedroom hall. The other bathroom has the newest type oval, sunken tub with plantings along the side. It is directly accessible from the two-car garage, making it conveniently usable from the outside without going through any of the rooms in the house. One of the two other bedrooms has a built-in desk, while the master bedroom has a built-in vanity situated between large "his" and "her" closets.

Exterior materials and Design S-6 are slate roof shingles, stucco, stone, brick and wood casement windows, the latter characteristic of Norman styling. This house is different enough to become a subject of appreciative conversation, but is practical enough to provide good living.

Clean Trap

Q.—There is a slight clogging of the trap under our kitchen sink. I would like to clean it out, but do not find any clean-out plug at the bottom of the U-shape pipe, as we had in our last house. How do I handle this?

A.—Loosen the fittings on each side of the U, which will permit you to insert a wire for the cleaning of the trap. We assume you already have attempted to unclog the trap with an auger or other type of "snake" inserted through the top of the sink drain.

Patty Duke Ready For Mature Roles

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — She is still tiny, still vibrant, still beautiful. But at 22, celebrating her 15th anniversary in show business, child star Patty Duke is definitely no longer a child star. She is now a mature mite 5 feet tall, 98 pounds and anxious to tackle mature roles.

DNR To Give Anglers Salmon

LANSING (AP) — Coho and Chinook salmon will be given to anglers this fall when the Natural Resources Commission begins their upstream spawning runs.

Wayne Tody, fish division chief of the Department of Natural Resources, told the commission that the fish would be cleaned and iced-down before given to anglers at three and possibly four locations.

The give-away was prompted by Food and Drug Administration action which set a five parts per million DDT tolerance level on the fish that rendered them unfit for commercial sale, Tody said Thursday.

However, authorities say that proper cleaning and cooking can reduce the amount of DDT below the tolerance level.

Tody said the give-away was made possible partly through the efforts of Blackport Packing Co. of Grand Rapids.

Blackport Packing Co. held the contract last year to process and market excess salmon trapped by the department. However, over 20,000 pounds of the fish were confiscated by authorities because of excessive amounts of DDT.

The Grand Rapids firm, Tody said, would pick up fish, clean them and pack them in ice before returning them a week later for free distribution to anglers possessing valid salmon licenses.

The limit will be one Coho or Chinook for each adult.

The fish will be given away at pickup points on the Platte, Little Manistee and Tawas rivers and possibly the Muskegon River, Tody said.

"When I was younger it used to bother me that I was so small," she said. "It doesn't anymore, although I suppose it wouldn't hurt if I were a couple of inches taller."

In her latest film, "Me, Natalie," she plays a love-awakened 18-year-old girl moving about in the world of the wounded young.

Patty is planning soon to move from the West Coast back to Manhattan, where she was born in Bellevue Hospital on Dec. 14, 1946. Her father was a cab driver, her mother a restaurant cashier.

At 7 Patty started her phenomenal acting career. In the busy years that followed she appeared in several plays, more than 50 television shows, and a number of movies. A landmark of her life, of course, was the winning of an Oscar in 1963 as "best supporting actress" for her part in "The Miracle Worker."

Then only 16, she was the youngest person ever to receive the award.

Inevitably, Patty's childhood wasn't a normal one, but she doesn't feel her early stardom left any permanent emotional scars.

"I have some regrets, but the good outweighs the bad," she said. "I'd like to have spent more time in school, but I was given greater opportunities."

"When I have children, I wouldn't want them to take up a theatrical career unless they really had the urge to. I think children have enough responsibilities while growing up without having to compete with adults in an adult world."

At the moment, however, Miss Duke is unhappily married. She is separated from her husband, Harry G. Falk Jr., a television director who is double her age.

To Patty life is summed up in the word "adjustment." "You have to learn to adjust to the things you have but strive to change what you don't like about your life—and avoid becoming cynical."

Mars seems more earthlike than any other planet. The Martian day (24 hours and 37 minutes) and the tilt of its axis (about 24 degrees) strikingly resemble those of earth. Hence, the climates are somewhat similar, though Martian nights are much colder.

Logging Congress To Have Exhibits, Log Rolling Show

The Lake States Logging Congress, with the largest timber industry equipment exhibit in the Lake States, will have more than $3 million worth of equipment on display at the Langlade County Fairgrounds, Antigo, Wis., Sept. 4, 5 and 6, during the 24th Annual Exposition sponsored by the Timber Producers Association of Michigan and Wisconsin.

Preparations are well along for the three-day convention of "lumberjacks" which will be the largest and most interesting in this convention's 24 year history, according to General Program Co-Chairmen Bill Williams and Robert Auner.

The Antigo Chamber of Commerce and the city's various service clubs are cooperating in preparations.

Lloyd Palmer, Executive Secretary of the Association said, contests are scheduled for each day of the Congress, including a rolling pin throwing contest for the ladies.

A log rolling exhibition which will bring established veteran log rollers from Michigan also is planned.

More people get more news from newspapers than all other sources combined.

'Music Scene' For Younger Generation

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — If the name Laura Nyro rings no bells and if you think the Bubble Gum Company makes something for chewing, a new television series called "Music Scene" will count as educational television.

The ABC variety show is not for the elderly squares of the nation—by definition almost all of us in those twilight years after 30. It is for, and largely created by, young people. And while it is not expected to hook the oldest, it may help them understand what interests that younger generation.

"Music Scene" will concentrate on contemporary comedy and music. Young, largely unknown comedians with ability to improvise will handle humor that is often topical. The musical staff is studying record sales charts the way another generation scans stock market lists.

"We listen to literally hundreds of records a week," said coproducer Ken Fritz, who confesses unhappily to being 31. "We tune in the underground radio stations—FM stations with disc jockeys who really know hard rock and don't care much about commercials. We visit the little night spots looking for kids without much experience but with talent. We talk to people."

Fritz apparently is able to tap the mysterious world of the teens and early twenties.

"Most older people never knew anything about it, but we found that for almost two years now kids as young as 12 and 13, from Malibu to New York, were carrying around Laura Nyro's albums," said Fritz, adding kindly that Miss Nyro is a singer who has rarely if ever, appeared on prime-time television.

"We would never have found the Bubble Gum Company or those very young rock groups like the Ohio Express or the 1910 Fruit Gum Company if we hadn't run into them on the underground radio stations."

Fritz, recently a full partner of the Smothers Brothers in their lucrative television, stage production, talent management, recording and real estate ventures, is eager to get away from the ruts into which he says variety shows have fallen.

"We'll have none of that opening comedy monologue by the host—in fact, there won't be a host," he said. "We'll go for intimate comedy—sketches, blackouts, close-ups—to introduce the musical numbers. Of course, entertainment comes first, but we also want the comedy to really say something."

DNR Accepting Applications For Outdoor Projects

LANSING (AP)—The Department of Natural Resources has announced it is ready to begin accepting applications from local units of government seeking a share of $30 million earmarked for local outdoor projects.

The funds are part of the $100 million recreation bond issue approved by voters last November.

The department expects to receive from 400-500 applications for funds during the next year.

Applications reaching the department before Sept. 2 will be included in a list submitted to the Legislature for approval on Sept. 10, the department said.

All applications made after that date will be included with those submitted to the Legislature for consideration in January, 1970.

School Budget

STURGIS (AP) — Another $5,000 has been cut from the budget of the Sturgis school district for the coming year. At a meeting two weeks ago, the Sturgis School board cut their budget some $58,000. Wednesday night the board eliminated the school's hot lunch program. The budget slash follows the defeat of a three-mill levy rejected by the voters June 9.

U-M Sends Out Precaution List

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The University of Michigan has outlined increased security precautions it is taking as a result of the murders of seven young women in the Ann Arbor - Ypsilanti area in two years.

Twenty-two-year-old John Norman Collins, an Eastern Michigan University senior, has been charged with first-degree murder in the strangulation death of one of the victims.

But investigators are continuing their probe of the other six slayings, for which no one has been charged.

In a letter to parents of all U-M students, President Robben Fleming said "it is apparent that a deranged person or persons are responsible for the slayings."

Fleming said that special security precautions include:

—The need for "specific precautions and sensible conduct" will be impressed upon coeds through new student orientation, counseling in residence halls and through statements issued by university officials. —Five hundred - ninety new street lights will be installed in the campus area by mid-September, at a cost of $52,000.

—Security personnel will be increased at an annual cost of $45,000.

—Five extra two-man patrol cars will be added to those already patrolling the campus at night by Ann Arbor police.

—An escort service for coeds again will be organized by male students to accompany women to and from their residences.

—University bus service will be increased to provide transportation for all students, especially to residence areas away from the main campus.

Walter R. Brookings was the first aviator to fly to a height of one mile. On July 9, 1910, he flew his Wright biplane to 6,175 feet over Atlantic City, N. J., to win that city's Aero Club prize of $5,000.

Patty Duke Ready For Mature Roles

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — She is still tiny, still vibrant, still beautiful.
But at 22, celebrating her 15th anniversary in show business, child star Patty Duke is definitely no longer a child star. She is now a mature mite 5 feet tall — weight 98 pounds — and anxious to tackle mature roles.

DNR To Give Anglers Salmon

LANSING (AP) — Coho and Chinook salmon will be given to anglers this fall when the salmon begin their upstream spawning runs.
Wayne Tody, fish division chief of the Department of Natural Resources, told the Natural Resources Commission that the fish would be cleaned and iced-down before given to anglers at three and possibly four locations.

The give-away was prompted by Food and Drug Administration action which set a five parts per million DDT tolerance level on the fish that rendered them unfit for commercial sale, Tody said Thursday.

However, authorities say that proper cleaning and cooking can reduce the amount of DDT below the tolerance level.

Tody said the give-away was made possible partly through the efforts of Blackport Packing Co. of Grand Rapids.

Blackport Packing Co. held the contract last year to process and market excess salmon trapped by the department. However, over 20,000 pounds of the fish were confiscated by authorities because of excessive amounts of DDT.

The Grand Rapids firm, Tody said, would pick up fish, clean them and pack them in ice before returning them a week later for free distribution to anglers possessing valid salmon licenses.

The limit will be one Coho or Chinook for each adult.
The fish will be given away at pickup points on the Platte, Little Manistee and Tawas rivers and possibly the Muskegon River, Tody said.

Logging Congress To Have Exhibits, Log Rolling Show

The Lake States Logging Congress, with the largest timber industry equipment exhibit in the Lake States, will have more than $3 million worth of equipment on display at the Langlade County Fairgrounds, Antigo, Wis. Sept. 4, 5 and 6, during the 24th Annual Exposition sponsored by the Timber Producers Association of Michigan and Wisconsin.

Preparations are well along for the three-day convention of "lumberjacks" which will be the largest and most interesting in this convention's 24 year history, according to General Program Co-Chairmen Bill Williams and Robert Auner.

The Antigo Chamber of Commerce and the city's various service clubs are cooperating in preparations.

Lloyd Palmer, Executive Secretary of the Association said, contests are scheduled for each day of the Congress, including a roling pin throwing contest for the ladies.

A log rolling exhibition which will bring established veteran log rollers from Michigan also is planned.

More people get more news from newspapers than all other sources combined.

'Music Scene' For Younger Generation

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — If the name Laura Nyro rings no bells and if you think the Bubble Gum Company makes something for chewing, a new television series called "Music Scene" will count as educational television.

The ABC variety show is not for the elderly squares of the nation—by definition almost all of us in those twilight years after 30. It is for, and largely created by, young people. And while it is not expected to hook the oldsters, it may help them understand what interests that younger generation.

"Music Scene" will concentrate on contemporary comedy and music. Young, largely unknown comedians with ability to improvise will handle humor that is often topical. The musical staff is studying record sales charts the way another generation scans stock market lists.

"We listen to literally hundreds of records a week," said coproducer Ken Fritz, who confesses unhappily to being 31.

"We tune in the underground radio stations—FM stations with disc jockeys who really know hard rock and don't care much about commercials. We visit the little night spots looking for kids without much experience but with talent. We talk to people."

Fritz apparently is able to tap the mysterious world of the teens and early twenties.

"Most older people never knew anything about it, but we found that for almost two years now kids as young as 12 and 13, from Malibu to New York, were carrying around Laura Nyro's albums," said Fritz, adding kindly that Miss Nyro is a singer who has rarely if ever, appeared on prime-time television.

"We would never have found the Bubble Gum Company or those very young rock groups like the Ohio Express or the 1910 Fruit Gum Company if we hadn't run into them on the underground radio stations."

Fritz, recently a full partner of the Smothers Brothers in their lucrative television, stage production, talent management, recording and real estate ventures, is eager to get away from the ruts into which he says variety shows have fallen.

"We'll have none of that opening comedy monologue by the host—in fact, there won't be a host," he said. "We'll go for intimate comedy—sketches, blackouts, close-ups—to introduce the musical numbers. Of course, entertainment comes first, but we also want the comedy to really say something."

DNR Accepting Applications For Outdoor Projects

LANSING (AP)—The Department of Natural Resources has announced it is ready to begin accepting applications from local units of government seeking a share of $30 million earmarked for local outdoor projects.

The funds are part of the $100 million recreation bond issue approved by voters last November.

The department expects to receive from 400-500 applications for funds during the next year.

Applications reaching the department before Sept. 2 will be included in a list submitted to the Legislature for approval on Sept. 10, the department said.

All applications made after that date will be included with those submitted to the Legislature for consideration in January, 1970.

School Budget

STURGIS (AP) — Another $5,000 has been cut from the budget of the Sturgis school district for the coming year. At a meeting two weeks ago, the Sturgis School board cut their budget some $98,000. Wednesday night the board eliminated the school's hot lunch program. The budget slash follows the defeat of a three-mill levy rejected by the voters June 9.

U-M Sends Out Precaution List

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The University of Michigan has outlined increased security precautions it is taking as a result of the murders of seven young women in the Ann Arbor - Ypsilanti area in two years.

Twenty-two-year-old John Norman Collins, an Eastern Michigan University senior, has been charged with first-degree murder in the strangulation death of one of the victims.

But investigators are continuing their probe of the other six slayings, for which no one has been charged.

In a letter to parents of all U-M students, President Robben Fleming said "it is apparent that a deranged person or persons are responsible for the slayings."

Fleming said that special security precautions include:

—The need for "specific precautions and sensible conduct" will be impressed upon coeds through new student orientation, counseling in residence halls and through statements issued by university officials.

—Five hundred - ninety street lights will be installed in the campus area by mid-September, at a cost of $52,000.

—Security personnel will be increased at an annual cost of $45,000.

—Five extra two-man patrol cars will be added to those already patrolling the campus at night by Ann Arbor police.

—An escort service for coeds again will be organized by male students to accompany women to and from their residences.

—University bus service will be increased to provide transportation for all students, especially to residence areas away from the main campus.

Walter R. Brookins was the first aviator to fly to a height of one mile. On July 9, 1910, he flew his Wright biplane to 6,175 feet over Atlantic City, N. J., to win that city's Aero Club prize of $5,000.

"The 19th Hole"

By Mike Utt

Area golfers are now making preparations for the annual club tournaments, which will be played at all three local golf courses within the next two weeks. The men at all three clubs will begin play on Aug. 31 and wind up their competition on the following Monday, Sept. 1. The women's competition begins Aug. 18 and runs through Aug. 21 except at the Highland Golf Club, where the tourney will end Aug. 20.

Champions who will be defending their crowns during the club tournaments are Jerry Martin and Elaine Nelson from the Highland Golf Club, Harold VanEffen and Gloria Hansley from the Escanaba Country Club and Pete Peterson and Bev Farrell of the Gladstone Golf Club.

Ron Koth was real happy with his accomplishment at the Escanaba Country Club this past Sunday. Ron, playing with Art Goulais, John Erickson and John Sankovitch, recorded an eagle-3 on the par 5 471-yard first hole. He was on the green in two and sank an eight-foot putt for the eagle.

Koth wasn't the only golfer to get an eagle on the first hole at the Country Club this week. Jim Bureau, playing with Randy Els and Bob Kleiman, notched one as did Ken Mulvaney on Tuesday night in the Twilight League.

One can hardly blame Earl Koch for feeling left out after what Tom Bartoszek, Rick Geiss and John Duca did to him Tuesday night in the men's Twilight League at the Highland Golf Club. Bartoszek, Geiss and Duca all got birdie-3's on the ninth hole while Koch came up with a bogey-5.

Tom Gregoire had his problems on Tuesday night at the Escanaba Country Club also. Gregoire and Ed Gravelle were all knotted up in their match coming down the last hole. Gravelle hit his third shot down on the front part of the green with the pin being at the far end of the green. Gregoire then hit his third shot and it landed in the same place, knocking Gravelle's ball only four feet away from the pin while his remained at the point of contact with the green. Gravelle then putted his ball into the hole for a four and won the match.

Bill Thomas sure had his putter working for him Tuesday in Twilight League competition at the Highland Golf Club. Thomas one-putted the first eight greens and then needed two putts on the ninth hole to finish the round with 10 putts.

Chris Barron did some real fine shooting for a woman golfer Thursday morning at the Escanaba Country Club. On No. 5 she took a birdie-3 on the 340 yard hole. A real tough feat for a woman according to Country Club Pro Jim Christien. Chris played two rounds and came in with scores of 41 and 42.

Local Teams Advance In Softball Playoffs

A pair of teams from the Escanaba Softball Association got on the winning road in the U. P. Class B and C softball tournaments last night and will swing back into action on Saturday in quest of a U. P. championship.

Flat Rock pulled off one of the biggest upsets of the season when they stopped Wisconsin National Life, runner-up in the State Class A tourney last season, by a score of 4-3 in the U. P. Class B event at Negaunee and Floyd's Service of Trenary upended Jacob's Motors of Iron Mountain 10-3 in the Class C tourney at Marquette.

Wisconsin National Life opened the scoring in the contest against Flat Rock with two runs in the first inning on an error and a double by Fran L'Houillier. They came up with another run in the second to take a 3-0 lead.

Flat Rock came to life in the fifth inning and closed the gap to 3-1 on doubles by Bill Plouff and Jim Pinar. They took the lead in the sixth inning on a home run by Bob Martin, a double by Nels Thompson and another home run by Ed Gauthier.

Billy Smith was the winning pitcher in the ballgame, scattering seven hits, while Byron Hewitt took the loss, giving up six hits.

Floyd's used home runs by Allen Runkila, Greg Begovac and Dennis Ylinen to stop Jacob's Motors. Sonny Pasanen hurled a two-hitter to pick up the victory for the Trenary nine. Dennis Bliski was tagged with the defeat.

Flat Rock will play the winner of tonight's game between Paul & Chris' Tavern of Spread Eagle, Wis., and Negaunee Teen Tap at 1 p. m. Saturday and Floyd's will battle the winner of the Soo Seniors and Marquette Shoreland Bar game Saturday at 7:30 p. m.

In other Class B action last night, the Calumet Radar Base shutout Blue Lakes Tire of Negaunee 4-0 and Paul & Chris' Tavern nipped Michigan Tech 2-1.

In the only other Class C contest last night Hillcrest Dairy of Marquette scored four runs in the seventh inning to squeeze by Hancock Office Supply 6-5.

Palmer Quits Tour Because Of Injury

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Arnold Palmer, plagued by a hip ailment, withdrew today from the second round of the 51st PGA championship and probably will not play the rest of the year.

"This is not retirement," the muscular Pennsylvanian said 30 minutes before he was scheduled to tee off. "It is just temporary . . . at least I hope so."

Palmer, who has earned more than $1 million in official winnings, had his worst round in 12 years Thursday opening with an 82. He said his hip pained him throughout the agonizing round.

"I'm going home. I will see the doctor and rest. I hope that with rest I'll be able to come back soon," said the legendary figure who is the game's all-time leading money-winner.

Palmer hinted after Thursday's disaster that he might withdraw so his action came as no surprise.

Almost lost in the excitement was the collapse of Tom Weiskopf, the Ohio slugger who came into the 17th hole three under par. Weiskopf, who hasn't won this year, missed a three-foot putt for a bird, then staggered to a double bogey six on the final hole for a finishing 70.

The final better put his second shot in a trap and couldn't get out. Obviously upset by his poor finish, Weiskopf refused to come to the press room for his post round interview.

"I don't want to say anything I'd regret," he said. "I'm just going to put my shoes on and get out of here. I'll be back tomorrow."

Lunn lost a solid chance for the lead on the demanding 6,915-yard NCR Country Club layout when he missed a three-foot putt for a bogey on 18. Geberger, the PGA titlist in 1966, finished strong with three straight birds.

Canadian George Knudson and big Jack Nicklaus both bogeyed the final hole and finished at 70, along with leading money-winner Frank Beard, Jacky Cupit, Bruce Crampton, U.S. Open champ Orville Moody, Phil Rodgers, Bruce Devlin, Canadian Open winner Tommy Aaron and Weiskopf.

South African Gary Player, one of the favorites, was in a group of five at even par 71. Defending champion Julius Boros shot a 72 while Masters king George Archer scored a 75, as did Kermit Zarley, despite a fat 10 on the par five, 536-yard hole. Winner of one U.S. Open, two British Opens and four Masters titles in an illustrious career that has earned him more than $1 million in official winnings, Palmer's torment started early when he bogeyed his first four holes.

Then came consecutive bogeys on Nos. 12, 13, 14 and 15 and a fantastic triple bogey seven on the 451-yard 16th hole.

Palmer's collapse was the latest in a series of setbacks for the 37-year-old player. He missed the first round of the 1968 PGA tourney and the 1969 U.S. Open.

Stock Car Drivers Seek Big Money Over Weekend

Thrills, chills and excitement galore will be the main attraction this Saturday and Sunday at the U.P. State Fair when drivers hit the track in modified and sportsmen stock car racing competition.

Approximately 100 cars, including 12 from Canada, are expected to make an appearance during the two-day affair, all shooting for the biggest payoff of the season to the winners. According to racing promoters Earl Iverson and Rene Lippens, this 100 car figure is about 20 to 30 more cars than show up for a regular racing night.

At last year's U.P. State Fair, winners received a total of $3,000 and this year's figures are expected to equal that or exceed it.

Stock car racing is the biggest grandstand draw of the Fair, pulling in more than 6,000 people over the two-day period and it competes with the W. G. Wade Shows as the biggest draw of the entire Fair.

Drivers in the modified class will be shooting for the added incentive of the International Tournament, which will pay the top four point getters in the two races here and one at the Hayden Speedway in Soo, Canada on Monday, an added bonus of $200.

"This is the biggest race weekend of the year according to the drivers," said Iverson. "All cars are gone over very closely to make sure nothing will break down and cost a driver points which eventually lead to the big money."

Racing has really come into its own in this area because, as Bob Hengesh of Escanaba, a modified driver, put it, "The competition between drivers is becoming better all the time."

Iverson feels that the competition between Ford and Chevrolet has a lot to do with the success of racing in this area. "Drivers and spectators argue this point just like people argue about politics," Iverson stated.

Lippens, Iverson's partner in promoting the weekly races at Norway and Escanaba, reminds all drivers that they are to use the barn entrance and that only the driver and one pit man will be allowed through the gate free.

Some of the top modified drivers to watch at the Fair this weekend are Bob Iverson of Hyde, the top modified driver in the area this year, Ken Iverson of Escanaba, Wes Beckett of the Soo, Ed Provo of Escanaba, Jerry Richer of Schafer, last year's No. 1 driver, and Hengesh.

Competition in the sportsmen class will come from Ron Paquette of Kingsford, the top sportsman driver on the track this season, Herb Iverson of Hyde, Duke Gardiner of Escanaba, Joe Haferkorn of Norway, Dick Peterson of Rapid River, Pat Temple of Norway and John Buckle of Escanaba.

Area golfers are now making preparations for the annual club tournaments, which will be played at all three local golf courses within the next two weeks. Ron Koth was real happy with his accomplishment at the Escanaba Country Club this past Sunday. Ron, playing with Art Goulais, John Erickson and John Sankovitch, recorded an eagle-3 on the par 5 471-yard first hole. He was on the green in two and sank an eight-foot putt for the eagle.

Koth wasn't the only golfer to get an eagle on the first hole at the Country Club this week. Jim Bureau, playing with Randy Eis and Bob Kleiman, notched one as did Ken Mulvaney on Tuesday night in the Two-Light League.

One can hardly blame Earl Koch for feeling left out after what Tom Bartoszek, Rick Geiss and John Duca did to him Tuesday night in the men's Twilight League at the Highland Golf Club. Bartoszek, Geiss and Duca all got birdie-3's on the ninth hole while Koch came up with a bogey-5.

Tom Gregoire had his problems on Tuesday night at the Escanaba Country Club also. Gregoire and Ed Gravelle were all knotted up in their match coming down the last hole. Gravelle hit his third shot down on the front part of the green with the pin being at the far end of the green. Gregoire then hit his third shot and it landed in the same place, knocking Gravelle's ball only four feet away from the pin while his remained at the point of contact with the green. Gravelle then putted his ball into the hole for a four and won the match.

Bill Thomas sure had his putter working for him Tuesday in Twilight League competition at the Highland Golf Club. Thomas one-putted the first eight greens and then needed two putts on the ninth hole to finish the round with 10 putts.

Chris Barron did some real fine shooting for a woman golfer Thursday morning at the Escanaba Country Club. On No. 5 she took a birdie-3 on the 340 yard hole, a real tough feat for a woman according to Country Club Pro Jim Chretien. Chris played two rounds and came in with scores of 41 and 42.

Local Teams Advance In Softball Playoffs

A pair of teams from the Escanaba Softball Association got on the winning road in the U. P. Class B and C softball tournaments last night and will swing back into action on Saturday in quest of a U. P. championship.

Flat Rock pulled off one of the biggest upsets of the season when they stopped Wisconsin National Life, runner-up in the State Class A tourney last season, by a score of 4-3 in the U. P. Class B event at Negaunee and Floyd's Service of Trenary upended Jacob's Motors of Iron Mountain 10-3 in the Class C tourney at Marquette.

Wisconsin National Life opened the scoring in the contest against Flat Rock with two runs in the first inning on an error and a double by Fran L'Houillier. They came up with another run in the second to take a 3-0 lead.

Flat Rock came to life in the fifth inning and closed the gap to 3-1 on doubles by Bill Plouff and Jim Pinar. They took the lead in the sixth inning on a home run by Bob Martin, a double by Neil Thompson and another home run by Ed Gauthier.

Billy Smith was the winning pitcher in the ballgame, scattering seven hits, while Byron Hewitt took the loss, giving up six hits.

Floyd's used home runs by Allen Rukkila, Greg Begovac and Dennis Ylinen to stop Jacob's Motors. Sonny Pasanen hurled a two-hitter to pick up the victory for the Trenary nine. Dennis Bilski was tagged with the defeat.

Flat Rock will play the winner of tonight's game between Paul & Chris' Tavern of Spread Eagle, Wis., and Negaunee Teen Tap at 1 p. m. Saturday and Floyd's will battle the winner of the Soo Seniors and Marquette Shoreland Bar game Saturday at 7:30 p. m.

In other Class B action last night, the Calumet Radar Base shutout Blue Lakes Tire of Negaunee 4-0 and Paul & Chris' Tavern nipped Michigan Tech 2-1.

In the only other Class C contest last night Hillcrest Dairy of Marquette scored four runs in the seventh inning to squeeze by Hancock Office Supply 6-5.

Palmer Quits Tour Because Of Injury

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Arnold Palmer, plagued by a hip ailment, withdrew today from the second round of the 51st PGA championship and probably will not play the rest of the year.

"This is not retirement," the muscular Pennsylvanian said 30 minutes before he was scheduled to tee off. "It is just temporary . . . at least I hope so."

Palmer, who has earned more than $1 million in official winnings, had his worst round in 12 years Thursday opening with an 82. He said his hip pained him throughout the agonizing round.

"I'm going home. I will see the doctor and rest. I hope that with rest I'll be able to come back soon," said the legendary figure who is the game's all-time leading money-winner.

Palmer hinted after Thursday's disaster that he might withdraw so his action came as no surprise.

Almost lost in the excitement was the collapse of Tom Weiskopf, the Ohio slugger who came into the 17th hole three under par. Weiskopf, who hasn't won this year, missed a three-foot putt for a bird, then staggered to a double bogey six on the final hole for a finishing 70.

The blond better put his second shot in a trap and couldn't get out. Obviously upset by his poor finish, Weiskopf refused to

Highland Women To Open Tourney

The ladies of the Highland Golf Club will tee off Monday in their annual club tournament. Eighteen hole golfers will tee off at 9 a. m. on No. 1 tee, with their second nine starting on No. 10 after lunch.

It is hoped to have two flights for the nine hole golfers this year. The nine-holers will tee off at 9 a. m. on No. 10. Anyone wishing to play in the tournament is asked to call Carol Davidson, golf chairman, 786-4273.

Coffee and rolls will be served each morning and the banquet is scheduled for Wednesday, Aug. 20, with the awards being made at this time. Permanent dinner reservations hold for the banquet, so all women are asked to cancel or make reservations for dinner at the clubhouse by Monday.

come to the press room for his post round interview.

"I don't want to say anything I'd regret," he said. "I'm just going to put my shoes on and get out of here. I'll be back tomorrow."

Lunn lost a solid chance for the lead on the demanding 6,915-yard NCR Country Club layout when he missed a three-foot putt for a bogey on 18. Geberger, the PGA titlist in 1966, finished strong with three straight birds.

Canadian George Knudson and big Jack Nicklaus both bogeyed the final hole and finished at 70, along with leading money-winner Frank Beard, Jacky Cupit, Bruce Crampton, U.S. Open champ Orville Moody, Phil Rodgers, Bruce Devlin, Canadian Open winner Tommy Aaron and Weiskopf.

South African Gary Player, one of the favorites, was in a group of five at even par 71. Defending champion Julius Boros shot a 72 while Masters king George Archer scored a 75, as

Merchants Open Tourney Action

First round play in the U.P. Class A softball tournament at Memorial Field will get underway Saturday at 11 a. m. with a game between the Escanaba Merchants and Houghton Bosch.

The other first round contest will pit Edward's Chevrolet of Iron Mountain against the Soo Merchants at 12:30 p. m. The winner of the first game will play Peterson's Cafe of Gwinn at 2 p. m. and the winner of game 2 will meet Northwoods Supper Club of Marquette at 3:30.

The loser of game 1 and the loser of game 2 will clash at 5 p. m. with the winner playing the winner of the 6:30 game between the loser of game 3 and the loser game 4 at 8 p. m.

The semifinals in the upper bracket will be played Sunday at 1:30 p. m. with the loser dropping down to play the survivor in the losers bracket at 3. The finals are scheduled to get underway at 7 p. m. Sunday with a second game slated at 8:30 if necessary.

Area softball fans will be able to see a number of outstanding pitchers in this event including "Whitey" Horko of the Soo Merchants, Carl Lem-in of Edward's Chevrolet, Bill Bertucci of Peterson's Cafe and Carl "Sarge" Meyer of the Northwood's Supper Club. Each of these pitchers have pitched their teams to at least one U. P. championship in Class A-B competition.

Stock Car Drivers Seek Big Money Over Weekend

Thrills, chills and excitement galore will be the main attraction this Saturday and Sunday at the U.P. State Fair when drivers hit the track in modified and sportsmen stock car racing competition.

Approximately 100 cars, including 12 from Canada, are expected to make an appearance during the two-day affair, all shooting for the biggest payoff of the season to the winners. According to racing promoters Earl Iverson and Rene Lippens, this 100 car figure is about 20 to 30 more cars than show up for a regular racing night.

At last year's U.P. State Fair, winners received a total of $3,000 and this year's figures are expected to equal that or exceed it.

Stock car racing is the biggest grandstand draw of the Fair, pulling in more than 6,000 people over the two-day period and it competes with the W. G. Wade Shows as the biggest draw of the entire Fair.

Drivers in the modified class will be shooting for the added incentive of the International Tournament, which will pay the top four point getters in the two races here and one at the Heyden Speedway in Soo, Canada on Monday, an added bonus of $200.

"This is the biggest race weekend of the year according to the drivers," said Iverson. "All cars are gone over very closely to make sure nothing will break down and cost a driver points which eventually lead to the big money."

Racing has really come into its own in this area because, as Bob Hengesh of Escanaba, a modified driver, put it, "The competition between drivers is becoming better all the time."

Iverson feels that the competition between Ford and Chevrolet has a lot to do with the success of racing in this area. "Drivers and spectators argue this point just like people argue about politics," Iverson stated.

Lippens, Iverson's partner in promoting the weekly races at Norway and Escanaba, reminds all drivers that they are to use the barn entrance and that only the driver and one pit man will be allowed through the gate free.

Some of the top modified drivers to watch at the Fair this weekend are Bob Iverson of Hyde, the top modified driver in the area this year, Ken Iverson of Escanaba, Wes Beckett of the Soo, Ed Provo of Escanaba, Jerry Richer of Schaffer, last year's No. 1 driver, and Hengesh.

Competition in the sportsmen class will come from Ron Paquette of Kingsford, the top sportsman driver on the track this season, Herb Iverson of

Simpson To Make Debut Against Lions Tonight

By The Associated Press

Will O. J. Simpson be a $300,000 flop in his pro football debut with the Buffalo Bills against the Detroit Lions at Tiger Stadium tonight?

The debut of the most prized rookie since Joe Namath in the play-for-pay gridiron sport headlines a two-game schedule that kicks off another busy weekend of 12 exhibitions.

The Baltimore Colts play the Houston Oilers in the Astro dome in tonight's other game. Seven games are scheduled for Saturday night and three more Sunday afternoon.

O. J. Simpson, All-American running back and the Heisman Trophy winner for Southern California, signed with the Bills only last weekend and hence may not play the entire game against the Lions.

The performance of the famed 6-foot-1, 207-pounder from San Francisco will be watched closely. There have been cases of college stars who did not make it with the pros, notably John Huarte, All-American quarterback from Notre Dame who also won the Heisman Trophy.

The Bills go against the Lions fresh from an upset 21-17 victory over the Washington Redskins last week, paced by the passing of Tom Flores and the running of Max Anderson. The Lions hope to rebound after a 38-13 drubbing from the Kansas City Chiefs.

Johnny Unitas, apparently recovered from his ailing throwing arm, will lead the Colts against the Oilers in the Astro dome. The veteran quarterback completed 12 of 19 passes for 147 yards and one TD in pacing the unbeaten Colts to a 34-30 victory over the Oakland Raiders last week.

The Oilers, who beat Buffalo 24-7 on Aug. 2, were idle last week and are ready with quarterback Pete Beathard reported "100 per cent improved" by Coach Wally Lemm.

The Chicago Bears and Green Bay Packers renew their rivalry Saturday night at Milwaukee in a game that will be nationally televised by CBS.

Cleveland is at Los Angeles, New Orleans is at Denver, Philadelphia is at Miami, Oakland is at San Diego help round out the Saturday night schedule that also lists Pittsburgh vs. St. Louis at Norfolk, Va. and Cincinnati vs. Kansas City at Jackson, Miss.

The Big Game Sunday pits the world champion New York Jets and Superbowl hero Namath against the New York Giants at New Haven, Conn.

It is the first meeting between the New York City rivals and the AFL Jets are reported determined to down the NFL Giants for the so-called NYC championship.

Errant Pitches Play Big Roles

By The Associated Press

Phil Niekro's knuckleball was dancing all over the place—and that's always a good sign for Atlanta.

But rarely was it dancing into catcher Bob Didier's glove—and that's always a bad sign for Atlanta.

Niekro had a little too much on his braid and butter pitch Thursday night and it led to four wild pitches, two passed balls by Didier and a 6-0 victory for Philadelphia over the Braves.

Niekro had the knuckler to blame but what was Jim Maloney's excuse? Maloney, who isn't noted for the flatterball, uncorked three wild pitches and Montreal went on to beat Cincinnati 6-3.

In the only other major league game played Thursday, the New York Yankees nipped the Chicago White Sox 3-2, with the winning run scoring, predictably, on a passed ball.

Most of Niekro's troubles came in a nightmarish fifth inning against the Phillies. Philadelphia had pushed across a run without a hit in the second with Niekro's wild pickoff throw at first base setting it up and his wild pitch allowing it to score.

In the fifth, singles by Woody Fryman, Cookie Rojas and Deron Johnson, two wild pitches by Niekro and two passed balls by Didier brought in three more runs.

Fryman pitched a five-hitter and rapped his first major league homer to even his record at 9-9. Rich Allen also homered for the Phils.

Two of Maloney's wild pitches helped Montreal to a run in the first, but the Expos were trailing 3-1 when they rallied for three in the sixth. Ron Brandt's two-out, two-run double was the big blow after Ty Cline had knocked in a run with a pinch single.

Three Expo errors had helped the Reds to a pair of runs in the fifth. It was Montreal's third victory in four games against Cincinnati and trimmed the Reds' National League West lead to 3½ games over idle

Houston which took over second place.

Jake Gibbs drove in the Yankees' first two runs with a single and a sacrifice fly but Chicago and New York were tied in the ninth when Horace Clarke tagged a two-out pitch. Then a passed ball by Ed Herrmann allowed Clarke to score the deciding run.

The Yankees used three pitchers to stem a White Sox rally in the last of the ninth with Steve Hamilton and Lindy McDaniel coming out of the bullpen to get the last two outs.

Simpson To Make Debut Against Lions Tonight

By The Associated Press

Will O. J. Simpson be a $300,000 flop in his pro football debut with the Buffalo Bills against the Detroit Lions at Tiger Stadium tonight?

The debut of the most prized rookie since Joe Namath in the play-for-pay gridiron sport headlines a two-game schedule that kicks off another busy weekend of 12 exhibitions.

The Baltimore Colts play the Houston Oilers in the Astro dome in tonight's other game. Seven games are scheduled for Saturday night and three more Sunday afternoon.

O. J. vaunted All-American running back and the Heisman Trophy winner for Southern California, signed with the Bills only last weekend and hence may not play the entire game against the Lions.

The performance of the famed 6-foot-1, 207-pounder from San Francisco will be watched closely. There have been cases of college stars who did not make it with the pros, notably John Huarte, All-American quarterback from Notre Dame who also won the Heisman Trophy.

The Bills go against the Lions fresh from an upset 21-17 victory over the Washington Redskins last week, paced by the passing of Tom Flores and the running of Max Anderson. The Lions hope to rebound after a 38-13 drubbing from the Kansas City Chiefs.

Johnny Unitas, apparently recovered from his ailing throwing arm, will lead the Colts against the Oilers in the Astro dome. The veteran quarterback completed 12 of 19 passes for 147 yards and one TD in pacing the unbeaten Colts to a 34-30 victory over the Oakland Raiders last week.

The Oilers, who beat Buffalo 24-7 on Aug. 2, were idle last week and are ready with quarterback Pete Beathard reported "100 per cent improved" by Coach Wally Lemm.

The Chicago Bears and Green Bay Packers renew their rivalry Saturday night at Milwaukee in a game that will be nationally televised by CBS.

Cleveland is at Los Angeles, New Orleans is at Denver, Philadelphia is at Miami, Oakland is at San Diego help round out the Saturday night schedule that also lists Pittsburgh vs. St. Louis at Norfolk, Va. and Cincinnati vs. Kansas City at Jackson, Miss.

The Big Game Sunday pits the world champion New York Jets and Superbowl hero Namath against the New York Giants at New Haven, Conn.

It is the first meeting between the New York City rivals and the AFL Jets are reported determined to down the NFL Giants for the so-called NYC championship.

Atlanta is at Boston and Dallas at San Francisco in Sunday's other games.

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Jim Palmer threw a no-hitter against the Oakland Athletics Wednesday night and the process may have taught Detroit's Mickey Lolich a valuable lesson.

Palmer walked Oakland slugger Reggie Jackson three times, including once in the ninth inning with a man already on base, but still emerged unscathed by the rest of the A's lineup.

Lolich, 35, must face rampaging Reggie, whose 42 homers lead the major leagues and leave him just 20 short of a new major league record, tonight at Oakland Coliseum.

He will be opposed by Lew Krausse, 6-5. The Mick, who posted a win in his last outing over the California Angels, gave up a four-bagger to Jackson on Detroit's last trip to this city, about which Gerturde Stein said "There is no there here."

The A's this year have discovered there also are apparent-

Wilbur Cohen Says:

Welfare Reform Plan Right Step

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Former Secretary of Health Education and Welfare Wilbur Cohen has called President Nixon's welfare reform proposals "a step in the right direction" but said it left many inequities in the welfare system.

Cohen, now dean of the University of Michigan's School of Education, said, "The continued exclusion of the millions of poor persons without children (unless they are over 65, blind, or disabled) is unfortunate."

Cohen, who served in former President Johnson's cabinet after John Gardner resigned, criticized the President's decision not to include aid to the needy aged, blind and disabled under the authority of the Social Security Administration.

He added, however, that placing family assistance under the Social Security Administration was "excellent."

Too Low Cohen also indicated that he felt the recommended minimum income levels were too low. He said that would have been justified only if Nixon "had recognized the necessity of recommending the financing of welfare completely by the federal government within the next five years."

He said that would allow local and state governments to reduce their property taxes, "a much needed action."

Cohen also had harsh words for Nixon's federal revenue-sharing plans. He noted that states "have nearly $12 billion in reserves for state unemployment insurance, which they are not using. They allow 40 per cent of all state workmen's compensation premiums to be used for administrative expenses."

Modifications He said a shared-revenue plan would be acceptable only if states modified some of these programs before receiving federal funds.

He also blasted the elimination of the food stamp program as a "tragedy."

Cohen also said the $4 billion cost Nixon predicted "is undoubtedly understated since the proposal involves increasing the present welfare rolls from 10 million at present to 20 million persons."

Cohen was a pioneer in developing this country's social security laws 35 years ago.

Restoration Of Fort Drummond Appears Doomed

DRUMMOND ISLAND (AP) — Restoration of Ft. Drummond, purportedly the last British military base on American soil, appeared doomed today following a Thursday night meeting at which a federal official said the government will not become involved in the project.

James Bourque, executive director of the tri-county district of the federal Economic Development Administration, said the government would not become involved unless there was total agreement among island residents.

Drummond Island is located in Lake Huron near the Straits of Mackinac. The majority of 75 persons at the meeting on the island appeared to be against the project.

Among those opposing restoration was Mrs. Marie Gunther, who owns the site of the fort. She told the meeting she never intended and never intends to sell the site for a park. She has subdivided the property and plans to sell it for house lots.

Another opponent of restoration was Wayne State University historian John Allen, also an island property owner. Allen told the meeting, "There never was a Ft. Drummond. They (the British) had one planned, but it was never finished."

Allen added that there was actually a British trading post on Drummond Island.

AIRMAN John C. Kallman, son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Kallman of 312 S. 13th St., Escanaba, has completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex. He has been assigned to Ft. Lee, Va., for training as a food services specialist. Airman Kallman is a graduate of Escanaba Area High School.

Burger To Decide On Foundation Job

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP) — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger was expected to disclose today whether he is giving up his paid post as an official of the foundation which runs the Mayo Clinic.

Burger, who has been paid $2,000 for attending four days of meetings each year, announced this week he probably would end all off-court duties, but did not specify what he planned to do about the job on the board of the Mayo foundation, which he has held for 10 years.

Mayo Clinic officials, who said they expected Burger to attend a regular meeting of the foundation board today, said they had received no advance notification of his plans.

Army Won't Release One Of Green Berets

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Army authorities today denied a petition for the release of one of eight Green Beret soldiers accused of murdering a Vietnamese who turned out to be a double agent.

An official spokesman said the release was refused because of "the seriousness of the alleged offense."

The petition was filed by a civilian attorney on behalf of Maj. Thomas C. Middleton Jr., 30, of Jefferson, S.C. His lawyer contended that pretrial detention is permissible only when the accused might try to flee or is a dangerous person at large, and the petition said this was not true of Middleton.

Sources close to the case today identified the dead man as Chu Yen Thai Khac, a Vietnamese who worked for the Special Forces as the chief of a team watching North Vietnamese infiltration trails in Cambodia.

The sources said the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency ordered him killed after films taken secretly in Cambodia exposed him as a double agent. But in about six days the CIA withdrew the order, the sources said.

The man was killed on or about June 20, but it was not clear whether the CIA changed its orders before or after the killing.

The name Chu Yen Thai Khac was one of several that have been bandied about in speculation on the hush-hush case. Sources said that although this is the "official" name of the victim, it may be an alias.

Other sources said earlier the man was shot and his weighted body dumped in the South China Sea off Nha Trang. The body has not been recovered.

The Army has filed charges of premeditated murder and conspiracy against seven U.S. Special Forces officers and one sergeant.

The order for the arrest of the Green Beret men was signed by Maj. Gen. G.L. Mabry, commander of support forces in Vietnam, but the sources today said Mabry got his orders from the highest U.S. commander in Vietnam, Gen. Creighton W. Abrams.

THE LIGHTING OF THE ESCANABA ATHLETIC FIELD...

Everyone has been inquiring about The Progress of "Let There Be Light". Here then is a capsule review of the happenings. The Football team started things by digging the six foundations until they ran into trouble at 3 ft. This required more know how and equipment than we could provide. To the rescue came "Old reliable Don Brandts construction crew who bailed us out. Then the Eskymo Fan Club "Labor Gang" got into the spirit of things and accomplished the following: Completed the foundations down to 5 ft., placed all the forms for the concrete to be poured by Tom Bravak of Bichler's Concrete Co., cut out the sod and replaced it after the City same down and trenched out for the main cable. The conduit and the brackets for the lights were assembled and welded onto each tower. The foundations were dug and the concrete poured for each Transformer and the relocated Flagpole. Then with the help of Bob Books Painting equipment all the towers were painted, assembled into place and pinned.

The final phase of work is now left to Claude Bohn and his electrical volunteers, then the sight we're all waiting for, the raising of the towers.

It's been a long hot summer with a lot of guys giving up part of their vacations to help make this a success, but it'll be worth the effort if these lights help increase the revenue from the football games enough to enable our School Board to continue the kind of Athletic program necessary in these competitive times.

This brings you up-to-date on the construction end of the project but we sure could use more help on the financial end of it. We are still $2800.00 short of our goal with 3 weeks to go. If you have a dollar or two lying around doing nothing how about sending it to Box 170 Escanaba, or drop it off at any of Esaky's 3 banks.

Wilbur Cohen Says:

Welfare Reform Plan Right Step

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Former Secretary of Health Education and Welfare Wilbur Cohen has called President Nixon's welfare reform proposals "a step in the right direction" but said it left many inequities in the welfare system.

Cohen, now dean of the University of Michigan's School of Education, said, "The continued exclusion of the millions of poor persons without children (unless they are over 65, blind, or disabled) is unfortunate."

Cohen, who served in former President Johnson's cabinet after John Gardner resigned, criticized the President's decision not to include aid to the needy aged, blind and disabled under the authority of the Social Security Administration.

He added, however, that placing family assistance under the Social Security Administration was "excellent."

Too Low

Cohen also indicated that he felt the recommended minimum income levels were too low. He said that would have been justified only if Nixon "had recognized the necessity of recommending the financing of welfare completely by the federal government within the next five years."

He said that would allow local and state governments to reduce their property taxes, "a much needed action."

Cohen also had harsh words for Nixon's federal revenue-sharing plans. He noted that states "have nearly $12 billion in reserves for state unemployment insurance, which they are not using. They allow 40 per cent of all state workmen's compensation premiums to be used for administrative expenses."

Modifications

He said a shared-revenue plan would be acceptable only if states modified some of these programs before receiving federal funds.

He also blasted the elimination of the food stamp program as a "tragedy."

Cohen also said the $4 billion cost Nixon predicted "is undoubtedly understated since the proposal involves increasing the present welfare rolls from 10 million at present to 20 million persons...."

Cohen was a pioneer in developing this country's social security laws 35 years ago.

Burger To Decide On Foundation Job

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP) — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger was expected to disclose today whether he is giving up his paid post as an official of the foundation which runs the Mayo Clinic.

Burger, who has been paid $2,000 for attending four days of meetings each year, announced this week he probably would end all off-duty duties, but did not specify what he planned to do about the job on the board of the Mayo foundation, which he has held for 10 years.

Mayo Clinic officials, who said they expected Burger to attend a regular meeting of the foundation board today, said they had received no advance notification of his plans.

Restoration Of Fort Drummond Appears Doomed

DRUMMOND ISLAND (AP) — Restoration of Ft. Drummond, purportedly the last British military base on American soil, appeared doomed today following a Thursday night meeting at which a federal official said the government will not become involved in the project.

James Bourque, executive director of the tri-county district of the federal Economic Development Administration, said the government would not become involved unless there was total agreement among island residents.

Drummond Island is located in Lake Huron near the Straits of Mackinac.

The majority of 75 persons at the meeting on the island appeared to be against the project.

Among those opposing restoration was Mrs. Marie Gunther, who owns the site of the fort. She told the meeting she never intended and never intends to sell the site for a park. She has subdivided the property and plans to sell it for house lots.

Another opponent of restoration was Wayne State University historian John Allen, also an island property owner. Allen told the meeting, "There never was a Ft. Drummond. They (the British) had one planned, but it was never finished."

Allen added that there was actually a British trading post on Drummond Island.

Army Won't Release One Of Green Berets

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Army authorities today denied a petition for the release of one of eight Green Beret soldiers accused of murdering a Vietnamese who turned out to be a double agent.

An official spokesman said the release was refused because of "the seriousness of the alleged offense."

The petition was filed by a civilian attorney on behalf of Maj. Thomas C. Middleton Jr., 30, of Jefferson, S.C. His lawyer contended that pretrial detention is permissible only when the accused might try to flee or is a dangerous person at large, and the petition said this was not true of Middleton.

Sources close to the case today identified the dead man as Chu Yen Thai Khac, a Vietnamese who worked for the Special Forces as the chief of a team watching North Vietnamese infiltration trails in Cambodia.

The sources said the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency ordered him killed after films taken secretly in Cambodia exposed him as a double agent. But in about six days the CIA withdrew the order, the sources said.

The man was killed on or about June 20, but it was not clear whether the CIA changed its orders before or after the killing.

The name Chu Yen Thai Khac was one of several that have been bandied about in speculation on the hush-hush case. Sources said that although this is the "official" name of the victim, it may be an alias.

Other sources said earlier the man was shot and his weighted body dumped in the South China Sea off Nha Trang. The body has not been recovered.

The Army has filed charges of premeditated murder and conspiracy against seven U.S. Special Forces officers and one sergeant.

The order for the arrest of the Green Beret men was signed by Maj. Gen. G.L. Mabry, commander of support forces in Vietnam, but the sources today said Mabry got his orders from the highest U.S. commander in Vietnam, Gen. Creighton W. Abrams.
